REPRESENTATIVES OF FOUR NATIONS IN PARLEY AT PARIS

PARIS—As a war-jittery world waits on the sidelines, representatives of United States, Great Britain, France and Soviet Union meet here to draw up an agenda for a Washington conference of those nations' foreign ministers. (Left to right) they are: Ernest Davies, British undersecretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Phillip C. Jessup, U. S. ambassador-at-large; Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, and French Secretary-general of the Foreign Ministry, Alexandre Parodi.

France Seeking To Assume Role Of Conciliator

Hopes To Bring About Agreement At Paris Parley

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager, I. N. S.)

PARIS, March 6.—France assumed today the role of conciliator at the meeting of Big Four deputies in the hope of achieving a compromise agenda to bring about top-level meetings aimed at ending the cold war.

Authoritative sources disclosed that the secretary-general of the French Foreign office, Alexandre Parodi, entered an 11 a.m. meeting of the Big Three Western powers to urge an effort to reconcile immediate proposals of the west and Russia made yesterday.

Not Too Far Apart

The French feel that the initial suggestions for the agenda between east and west are not too far apart. The chief point brought up by the west was examination of the causes of the current international tension in Europe. Russia, holding to first demands, asked consideration of the re-establishment of the League of Nations.

If the sun is shining in this district Wednesday, local residents who care to look, with sun glasses, of course, will be treated to one of the sky's rarest shows, an eclipse of the sun. The spectacle is expected to start at 5:09 p.m., with the maximum phases expected to be reached at 5:44, when the moon will cover 17 per cent of the sun's diameter. The sun, in this area, as viewed, will have a good-sized chunk bitten out of one side. The performance is expected to be repeated on September 1.

It is reported to Pa News that Mrs. Alice L. Reed of R.D. 7, had an unusual black hen at her place until March 1, when it died at the age of 17 years. Mrs. Reed set some eggs in 1934 and this chicken was one of those which hatched. It was a mixture of aneas.

Senate Nearing Final Vote On 18-Year-Old Draft Bill

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS)—Backers of the administration's bill to draft 18-year-olds and authorize universal military training said today they are "over the hump" of their Senate battle.

Senate majority leader McFarland (D Ariz.), announced that he will aim for a final vote Wednesday evening. Sen. Johnson (D Tex.), floor manager of the bill, said it will pass without major change.

Johnson declared: "We are over the hump and it could be we would even get through tonight."

Johnson said opposition crumbled when the Senate refused by a 55 to 31 vote to change the 18-year minimum draft age in the bill.

DiSalle Steps Into Battle On Price Control

By FELIX COTTEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Price controller DiSalle steps into the administration's stabilization battle with labor today while President Truman and defense mobilization Wilson discuss strategy in Florida.

DiSalle is to speak on the stabilization program at the National Press club. He is expected to appeal for full cooperation from all groups, labor included, in the anti-inflation battle.

The price controller is certain to deny emphatically labor's charge that, under Wilson, there is no effective price control at all.

Steps Up Campaign

Meanwhile organized labor stepped up its campaign against administration policies, insisting that no solution is in sight in quiet behind-the-scenes conferences seeking stabilization peace.

Wilson, chief target of labor's attack, will confer on the whole question with President Truman at Key West, Fla., where the chief executive is vacationing.

Washington officials regard the conference as important. They emphasize that as long as labor refuses to participate in the mobilization program, no progress will be made in the effort to control inflation.

Labor has launched a vigorous campaign against Wilson's management of the mobilization program. This has taken the form of radio speeches attacking Wilson and arrangements for mass meetings by state and local union representatives to stir up a crusade for tighter price controls.

Youth Dislocates Shoulder; Jar Puts It Back In Place

While playing basketball near his home Monday evening, Dick Johnson, aged 17 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Johnson, of 1020 Rebecca street, dislocated his right shoulder.

He was placed in a car and taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment, but in getting out of the car, the shoulder snapped back in place. He was examined at the hospital, and later referred to a doctor for further treatment.

Changpyong Is Captured By Seventh Division

Believe Red Chinese Forces Being Massed For New Counter-Drive

By LEE FERRERO
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

TOKYO, March 6.—U.S. troops seized a road hub and plodded a mile forward through an eight-inch snowfall today on Korea's central front where Red China massed a field army for an expected counter-push.

On the east wing of the mountain sector, tank-led Seventh Division GIs captured the key junction of Changpyong, 28 miles south of the 38th Parallel.

A Tuesday night Eighth Army bulletin said these troops then repulsed three Red "probing" counter-thrusts.

Farther west on the white-blanketed central front, U. S. Second Division soldiers, fighting throughout the day in a swirling snowstorm, smashed northward 2,000 yards in the area east-south-east of Hoengsong.

International News Service War Correspondent Frank Conniff reported in a Tuesday night field dispatch that Second Division patrols "ranged farther" north, ahead of the main attacking units. The dispatch said the GIs reported coming across the bodies of "hundreds of enemy dead" lying in the snow which had reached a depth of eight inches by nightfall Tuesday.

These Reds apparently had died under lethal American artillery and air barrages supporting the advance.

Under the law, they may be sentenced to death if found guilty. The trial will open before Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman in the same courtroom where the 11 top Communist leaders were convicted before Judge Harold Medina.

The defendants are Julius Rosenberg, 33, his wife, Ethel, both New Yorkers, and Morton Sobell, 34, formerly of Flushing.

Another defendant, Anatoli A. Yokevlev, former Soviet vice consul in New York, is believed to have fled to Russia.

Three top scientists in the development of the atom bomb and Lieut. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, retired wartime head of the Manhattan A-Bomb Project, are slated to be among those who will testify for the government.

Wilson Meets With Truman

Defense Mobilizer Has Conference On The Labor Rift

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

U. S. SUB BASE, Key West, Fla., March 6.—President Truman today began the first of a series of conferences at his vacation spot dealing with vital current problems at home and abroad.

Today, and later in the week, the President will thresh out controversies dealing with labor's part in the nation-wide mobilization program, and with the threat of new aggressive moves by world Communism against the free nations.

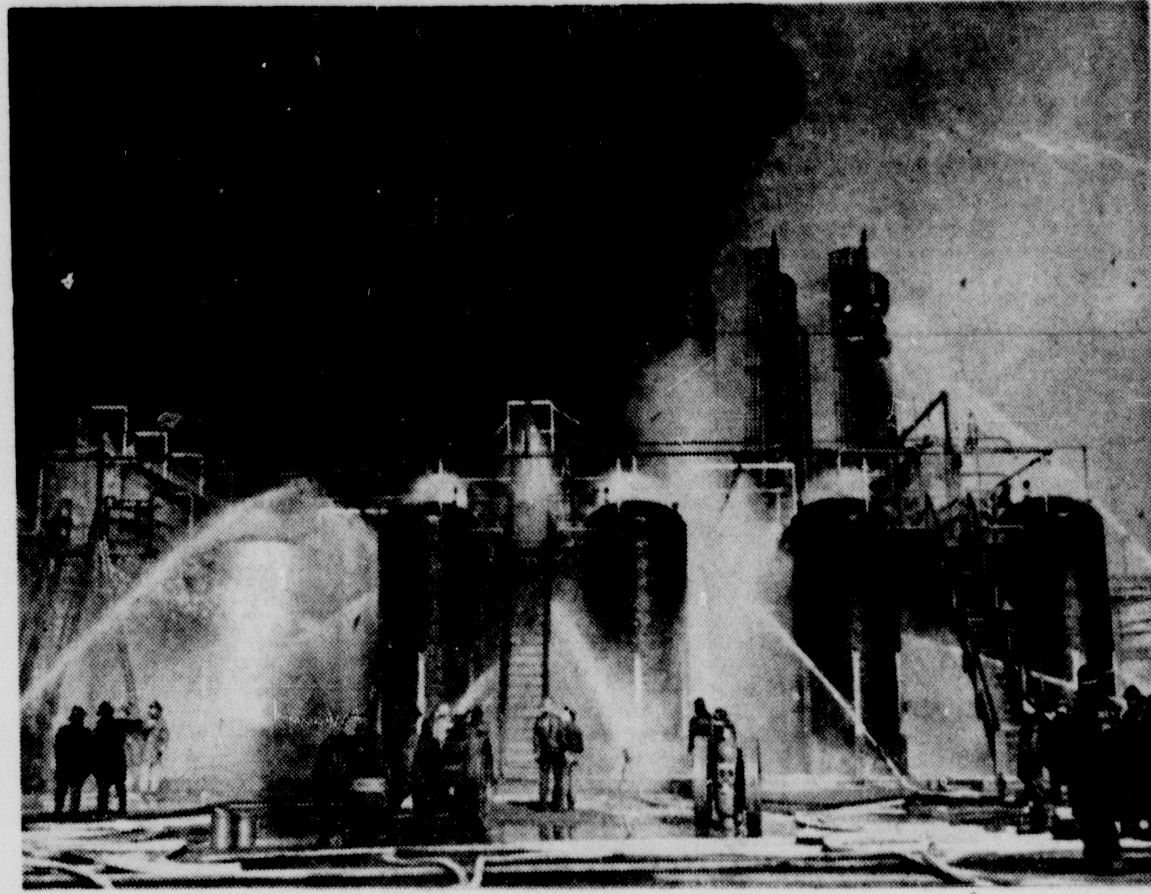

Mr. Truman will hold his first conference on the labor rift over the mobilization setup when he meets Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson at the vacation headquarters on the closely-guarded U. S. Submarine Base.

Later in the week, the President will hold an important review of possible new moves by Soviet Russia with W. Averell Harriman, the President's special adviser on international affairs.

The President meets with Harri-man Friday. The foreign affairs expert and presidential adviser will fly down from Washington.

Today, the President turned his attention to the problem of coping with labor's "walkout" from the mobilization effort.

Wilson confers with the President at a luncheon conference after flying to Key West during the morning from Fort Lauderdale, where he has been visiting briefly with his vacationing family.

Butadiene Plant Near Rochester Is Fire Swept

One Unit Of Plant Is Badly Damaged By Fire After Blast

(BULLETIN)

ROCHESTER, Pa., Mar. 6.—(INS)—Fire which followed an explosion at a government chemical plant near Rochester today caused half a million dollars damages to a unit used in the manufacture of butadiene, a component of synthetic rubber.

A spokesman for Koppers Co., Inc., which operates the Kobuta plant for the government said most of the damage was outside the No. 3 unit. At first the entire unit—built at a cost of five to ten million dollars—was believed to have been damaged.

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 6.—(INS)—Fire swept a unit of a government chemical plant operated by Koppers Co., Inc., today near Rochester, with a loss of between five and ten million dollars.

A company spokesman, who said the plant cost 60 million dollars to build during World War II, said the No. 3 unit of the four-unit plant "seems to be pretty much of a loss."

The blaze followed an explosion at 7:10 a. m. in a unit producing butadiene, a component of synthetic rubber.

Two persons, Homer Byard, of Monaca, Pa., and James Patton, Beaver, Pa., were treated at the Rochester hospital for second degree burns.

Firemen said it was possible others may be trapped in the flames.

Hundreds Of Spectators Witnessed said the explosion was heard for miles around, and hundreds of spectators and workers lined Highway 18 near the plant. The cause was not known.

Fire equipment from many surrounding communities answered the alarm.

A company official said there was no suspicion of sabotage. The plant recently was reactivated at the instructions of the government office of rubber reserves.

Flames, fed by highly inflammable butadiene which is made of 190 proof denatured alcohol, shot high in the air as fire fighters fought for more than an hour to keep the blaze from spreading.

The monthly synthetic rubber production, when the plant is in full operation, is around five million pounds per unit.

Composer Of Noted Song Dies In London LONDON, March 6.—(INS)—The man who wrote the great hit song of World War I, "Keep The Home Fires Burning," died today in London.

Doctors said Ivor Novello, who was an actor and manager in addition to a composer, was stricken by a thrombosis.

Novello, who was born in Cardiff, Wales, had his first song published when he was 15 years old. His total of compositions was about 600.

28th Infantry To Share War Games At Fort Bragg, N. C.

CAMP ATTERBURY, Ind., March 6.—(INS)—The 28th Infantry Division will take part in war games near Fort Bragg, N.C., June 20 to July 10.

Announcement that the 28th would go to North Carolina for further training was made yesterday by Division Commander Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, who visited Pittsburgh to dedicate a Salvation Army canteen for servicemen.

Pennsylvania's "Bloody Bucket" Division will be among other outfits, totaling at least 100,000 troops, that will have a part in the mock battle.

Ships Collide Near Lewes, Del.

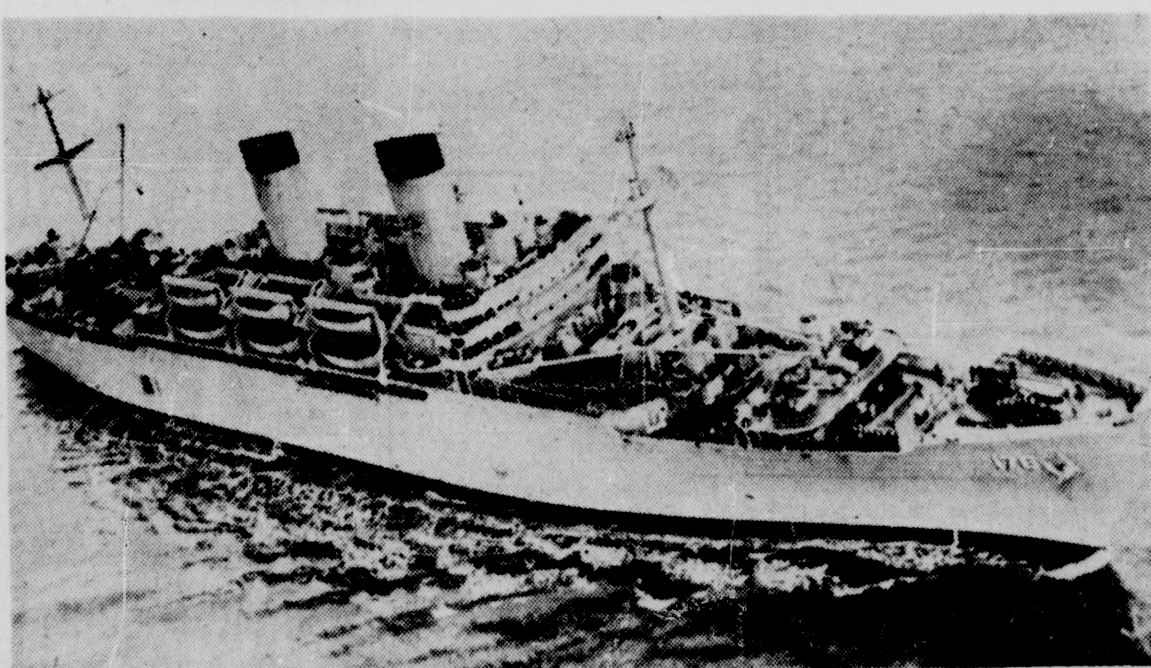

LEWES, Del., Mar. 6.—(INS)—Two freighters crashed in a dense fog in the Delaware bay near Lewes today and one of them radioed a distress call to the Coast Guard that it was taking in water and "probably sinking."

The distress signal was sounded shortly after 8 a.m. by the 2415-ton Bertha Brovig, a Norwegian vessel, which collided with the 3365-ton Danish freighter Uranienborg. The Uranienborg was undamaged.

Coast Guard emergency craft and the cutter Gentian sped to the scene from Cape May, N. J., and Lewes, and were standing by while the master of the Brovig reported he was shifting cargo from the leaking No. 2 hold to determine the extent of the damage.

The Brovig was headed for Philadelphia with a general cargo from Progresso, Mexico. The Uranienborg left Philadelphia last night after discharging a cargo of raw sugar from Cuba.

Sen. Murray Makes Defense Of Practice

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS)—Sen. Murray (D) Mont., today defended as an "established congressional practice" his intercession with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, on behalf of a loan seeker who paid a fee to his lawyer-son.

The Senator called upon the Fulbright committee to publish information showing "a complete listing of all phone calls, interviews and letters" between members of Congress and the RFC since its inception. He also requested such information on senatorial intervention in other agencies.

Two-Page Response

Murray issued a two-page response to testimony before the committee yesterday that he urged the approval of a one million dollar government loan to the Sorrento hotel in Miami Beach, Fla. It also was brought out that his son, James Murray, Jr., received a $21,000 fee in connection with the Sorrento loan and two others.

The Senator declared that he was only doing what every other Senator and Congressman is called upon to do, and declared:

"I believe such congressional intervention with agencies to assure fair treatment to all applicants is important to the proper functioning of our government."

Rescue Six Men From Fishing Boat

NEW YORK, March 6.—(INS)—The Coast Guard reported the rescue of six men from a grounded fishing boat early today, and two of its cutters sped to the aid of a 2415-ton Norwegian freighter damaged in a dense fog in Delaware Bay.

The cutters were expected to arrive about 10:30 a. m. (EST), at a point one mile south of Miah Maull Lighthouse where the freighter Bertha Brovig was reported taking water amidships after a collision with the 3365-ton Danish ship Uranienborg.

Another cutter removed six men from the fishing vessel Emma Pauline just before it sank at 8:15 a. m. after running aground near the Cape May East Jetty.

Administration leaders accepted a compromise amendment making a draftee's term of service 24 months instead of the 26 months proposed in the bill. Morse had moved to retain the present 21-month draft hitch.

The compromise was the only concession sponsors of the bill have made and it was agreeable to them.

Several amendments are yet to be disposed of and a last-minute skirmish is always possible.

Student Nurse Found Wounded

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—(INS)—A 34-year-old student nurse was in serious condition in a Pittsburgh hospital today from a throat wound which required 25 stitches.

Mrs. Rebecca Darchuck was found in her room at the Webster Hall hotel. At Montefiore hospital, she told police an intruder broke into her room and hit her. There was a bruise on her head.

However, police said there was no evidence of the door being forced. A razor blade was found stuffed under the mattress.

Mrs. Darchuck had been registered at the hotel under her maiden name of McKinney. She is a native of Bolivar in Westmoreland county.

The nurse said she spent the evening in a cocktail lounge, and was attacked about 1:20 a. m. She telephoned for help when she regained consciousness about 3 a. m.

Officials said Mrs. Darchuck, a student at the University of Pittsburgh, had lived at the hotel for about two years.

Expect Revision Of Occupation Plan In Western Germany

PARIS, March 6.—(INS)—The big three Western governments are expected today to announce a far reaching revision of the occupation statute for Western Germany.

The revision would grant the Bonn government the right to create its own ministry of Foreign Affairs and establish diplomatic relations "in all measures compatible with the exigencies of security."

Under terms of the agreement Bonn is to promise to recognize the external debts of the defeated third Reich and to set up special machinery for servicing the debt. Bonn also is to assure the Western powers reasonable access to raw materials for defense purposes, mainly coal for France.

MOVE REVIVAL TO DOWNTOWN CHURCH

Arrangements have been made to accommodate the large crowd which will attend by seating them in the auditorium and Sunday school rooms and other parts of the building, using the public address system in order that they may hear.

Service Monday

Monday evening, which is shopping night for New Castle, failed to deter a large crowd of over 1300 turning out to hear the sermon preached by Dr. Appelman on "Slaves In Free America." The visiting evangelist, told his audience that the slavery of sin grips America today even as individuals were bound by sin in Samson's day. Sinners are bound and blinded, the revival attenders were told.

"Sin blinds us to the record of the past, to the hopelessness of the present, to the hopelessness of future deliverance," Dr. Appelman stated. "Sin blinds us to the devil, blinds us to the value of our soul, the sinner needs Christ." The speaker urged his listeners not to run away from Christ, but to seek Him.

Last night's service opened with a great musical program led by Rev. John Troy of Winona Lake, Ind., who directed the audience and choir in singing "The Church Triumphant and Militant," by special request again presented, "All Hail Emmanuel." Avery Rigby, Jr., was heard in a solo number, "The Calvary Road."

Rev. Troy pleased with the musical number, "I Walk With the King." The prayer of the evening was offered by Rev. F. A. Smith, missionary to Colombia, South America.

Returning to the Cathedral Wednesday evening, the Eureka Jubilee singers of Chicago, Ill., will join the party. They will be heard in several selections each evening. A planned night program is planned for next Sunday evening when the "Ninety and Nine" will be sung.

Noon services continue at 12:10 daily at the First Presbyterian church with Dr. Appelman as the speaker for the period. The effort continues until Palm Sunday, March 18.

FRANCE SEEKING ROLE OF CONCILIATOR

ment of unity in Germany and a German peace treaty.

The British shared the French feeling. British Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Ernest Davies commented that while a "wide gap" exists in the priority order of items on the Soviet and Western agendas there is no reason why it should not be bridged.

Parodi also may suggest agreement for parallel discussions by the Big Four foreign ministers if they meet, with the conferees committed to talk in morning sessions about the general questions of armaments and about Germany in afternoon sessions. A projected meeting of the Big Four ministers depends on the current talks.

In a speech to the deputies this afternoon Parodi also plans to appeal for a meeting of minds on an agenda in order to assure a meeting of the ministers.

American Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup intends to emphasize the American government's conviction that the basic causes of tension in Europe should be the first item on the agenda.

Jessup feels that discussing Germany before considering the former problem would be putting the cart before the horse.

A prime point brought up by the Russians yesterday was that the major powers reduce their armed forces.

The vague scheme for a cut in armaments by the United States, Britain, France and the Russians themselves was put forth after the Western powers declared the prime current need is settlement of international tension stemming from the cold war.

An eventual parity by the Big Four prime ministers depends on whether the deputies are successful in arriving at an agreeable agenda.

CHANGPYONG TAKEN BY SEVENTH DIVISION

Korean communications pivot seized by United Nations troops last week.

It said American, French and South Korean troops "patrolled aggressively" along the central front where the heavy descending snowflakes imparted a weird aspect to the scenes of battle.

In the western sector, also hit by the wintry storm, UN patrols continued to probe the north side of the Han River near Seoul, the Eighth Army bulletin related.

Conniff's front dispatch said that west-flank American Seventh Division troops, operating east of the Second Division's sector, advanced 1,200 yards northward in the area south of Taemi, a Red mountain stronghold. These GIs plunged forward against Communist mortar and small arms fire.

Repulse Red Attacks

Three miles northeast of Haan-hung, on the Seventh Division's west flank, Republic of Korea (ROK) troops repulsed night-long Red counter-attacks. Then other Communist forces "heavily engaged" the South Koreans north-east of Amidong Tuesday afternoon, Conniff reported.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed that Communist China's so-called Third Field Army has augmented the enemy's forces on the central front in apparent preparation for a big new attack.

The United Nations supreme commander declared in a Tuesday morning communique:

"The presence in the battle area of nine to twelve fresh or rehabilitated Chinese Communist divisions represents a potential for an enemy counter-offensive on the central front."

Large Reinforcements

These reinforcements, aggregating possibly 94,000 to 126,000 Chinese troops, are supported by armor and cavalry. MacArthur said UN airmen reported "considerable tank traffic between Chunchon and Hoengsong and small elements of horse cavalry have been observed near the front."

Chunchon is a rail-highway junction 14 miles below Parallel 38, the dividing line between South and North Korea. Hoengsong, 29 miles southeast of Chunchon, was captured last week by U. S. First Marine Division troops who today continued their drive against stubborn Red resistance toward Hong-chon.

The leathernecks were reported less than ten miles from Hong-chon, an enemy troop assembly center about midway between Hoengsong and Chunchon.

The UN military chief said "a large force of aggressively along the enemy's main supply corridor from Kumiha southward through Hwachon and Chunchon."

Standards of all the white way lights in the downtown area are being given a fresh spring coat of nice green paint by workmen, it was noted by Pa Newc, enroute to work this morning. The work will enhance the appearance of the city's downtown area.

Mrs. Mary Bober of R.D. 1, reports to Pa Newc that she received a surprise phone call from her son, Sgt. John P. Bober, who called from Hitler's famous gardens in Germany, Saturday about 2:30 p. m. Sgt. Bober enlisted in 1949 in the U. S. Army. He reported the snow to be three feet deep there now.

Motorists arriving at the east side of the traffic light at Mercer and Washington street, traveling west, this morning, were wondering if they were seeing things. The amber light on the signal evidently became stuck and burned continuously as the red and green light operated normally. Workmen remedied the situation before the morning was very old.

One Ohio motorist was evidently jumping the gun on his license plates as Pennsylvania and Ohio have the same starting dates for their license tags, April 1. The new plates may be used starting March 15 but not before that. The Ohio resident was the only one Pa Newc detected with a 1951 plate which is the reverse of the 1950 plate.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rice, 315 Shaw street, heard a noise outside their home Monday at 11:40 p. m. Upon investigating, Mr. Rice found a large raccoon in their garbage can. The animal seemed to have disappeared this morning.

FIRE IN BALTIMORE
PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—(INS)—Fire today swept the Baltimore market building at Broad and Porter Sts., with an estimated loss of $20,000. Firemen battled thick smoke to subdue the blaze, which reportedly started in a basement oil burner.

The first patent for a refrigerating machine was granted to Dr. John Gorrie, Apalachicola, Fla., in 1851.

Local Man Gets Law School Degree

Alexander L. Stevas, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stevas of Vogan avenue, received his bachelor of law degree at the graduating exercises held recently at George Washington university in Washington, D. C.

He was one of 188 persons who were also successful in passing the Virginia bar examination.

Mr. Stevas is a graduate of New Castle high school in the class of 1940, Youngstown College School of Business and bachelor of arts degree at George Washington university in 1949. He is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity; Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity, and formerly served on the law school student placement committee. He was also named to the board of editors of the George Washington university Law Review as librarian for the publication.

His mother, who attended the graduation exercises, has returned after a visit with her son and daughter-in-law and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Rauh, at Arlington, Va.

Stassen Declares World War III Is Not Inevitable

CLEVELAND, March 6.—(INS)—Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, believes development of "business statesmanship" in American colleges is of prime importance in the world struggle against Communism.

The 44-year-old former governor of Minnesota spoke in Cleveland last night at a fund-raising dinner sponsored by the university's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce.

Stassen said he does not believe that World War III is inevitable. He added that the future of the nation depends upon the maintenance of a strong economy, aid to undeveloped areas in Asia and Africa, maintenance of air, land and sea supremacy, military assistance to other nations wishing to be free and the invitation of "countermoves" among people behind the iron curtain.

"Whether we meet these challenges will depend on our development of business statesmanship," Stassen concluded.

JUST DO IT--AND SMILE

What good did it do—to be grouchy today?
Did your surliness drive any troubles away?
Did you cover more ground than you usually do
Because of the grouch that you carried with you?

If not, what's the use of a grouch or a frown.
If it won't smooth a path or a grim trouble down?
If it doesn't assist you, it isn't worth while.
Your work may be hard, but just do it—and smile.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE

In expressing public doubt that the projected Big Four conference will bring a solution of world problems closer, the State department may be simply facing the realities as it knows them to be. But many Americans wonder whether this frankly pessimistic attitude, stated in advance of the meeting, is good tactics or good diplomacy.

It is true that previous discussions among the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia have not made noticeable contributions to world peace. Most of them, in fact, have had the opposite result. But it is barely possible that the situation in which the Soviet now finds itself offers at least a prospect of a softened position toward the Western world.

Since the last meeting of the foreign ministers the international picture has undergone some changes, and they are—in the main—not beneficial to Russian hopes and aspirations. The United States has greatly increased its military strength. The Soviet has discovered some serious weaknesses in its own household. There is reported to be disaffection in the satellite states. The war in Korea seems to be a stalemate.

In view of these developments, may it not be the fact that the Soviet is prepared to make minor concessions that would have been unthinkable a year ago? There seems to be no purpose in participating in the forthcoming conference if it is to be written off in advance as doomed to failure.

MERITS OF MARCH

March is hardly one of the popular months. No poet ever sang: "Oh, what is so rare as a day in March?" It weather is commonly described as "raw" and too often lives up to the description. Its winds rake skins already rasped by weeks of winter cold, and its fickle weather brings sniffles and coughs even to those who have begun to boast they have escaped them thus far.

Nevertheless, it is about time somebody put in a good word for March. Unlovely as it may seem, it has some merits.

After three weeks of bluster and threat, March suddenly lays spring on the doorstep. At this stage, to be sure, spring is not much prettier than new-born babes, but surely March, which brings it forth, is entitled to take some parental pride in its later loveliness. March brings a few swelling buds and green sprouts and early birds—just when the sight of them is most welcome.

Easter comes in March, too—and comes earlier than usual this year. March 25 won't set a record for earliness—Easter may come as early as March 22—but there won't be another Easter as early as March 25 until the twenty-first century.

How the date of Easter is determined is a mystery to people who shake their heads and say they never were good at figures, anyway, but it is simple enough. Figures aren't necessary. Just wait until spring starts. Then watch out for a full moon. That will be the signal to buy Easter eggs and dyes and lay out Easter clothes. The coming Sunday will be Easter.

CRISIS IN FRANCE

The fall of the Plevin cabinet is fresh evidence of the deep-seated disunity in France which has had disastrous effects on Europe and the world during this century. The immediate cause involves technicalities of electoral reform. But the effect is a victory for the Communist minority, won because a majority in agreement on what had to be done could not unite on how to do it.

The Communists were all-out to block any electoral reform. A majority of members of the French Assembly were agreed on the importance of replacing the present proportional representation system, which contains loopholes that give Communists more than their fair share of representation. But unless the majority can agree on specific reform, the old system will be in effect for this year's national elections.

That is why Prime Minister Plevin and his cabinet resigned without first calling for a vote of confidence on the issue. If they had forced one and lost, immediate elections under the old system favoring the Communists would have been mandatory.

What happens now is behind-the-scenes dickering among party leaders—each of whom presumably will ask a price for abandoning his pet reform. This looks unpleasantly like government by blackmail. But new elections under a fair new electoral system would weaken the Communists to the point where familiar tactics would have less scope. Much depends on President Auriol's ability to find a compromise that will make this possible.

President Truman says he'd like to try a parachute jump. So he can get a better over-all view of things?

Joe Stalin can rest easy in at least one respect. There will be no law passed in Russia limiting him to two terms.

At long last the burghers of Irrendorf, Germany, plan to change the town's monicker. They never were very crazy about the old name—Irrendorf—which means Madman's Village.

An adult reader complains that modern versions of Mother Goose stories have all the rough stuff, such as man-eating ogres, etc., removed. The kids don't care—they're too busy watching the TV horse opera gun battles between the Good Guys and the Bad Guys.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Oddity Typical Of France

One of those oddities typical of a France that lives both in the past and present emerged today with convocation of the big four foreign ministers' deputies in Paris for a conference to decide whether the east-west crisis is final or subject to medical treatment.

It was the particular locale that was chosen.

There was a certain measure of symbolism in the fact that France, as hostess, chose the fabulous pink palace of the American-born Duke of Talleyrand for this decisive session.

Mementoes And Memories

For in this old-world mansion there are mementoes and memories of a time when international diplomacy, dead as it may have been in ultimate purpose, was carried out in a delicate, even perfumed atmosphere.

There is an inevitable contrast to the edgel and blueedged methods of the present day, characterized sometimes as "The Great Lie" or "The Great Deceit," but always in keeping with the bolshevik principle that it is best to accuse an adversary of one's own outstanding transgression.

Had this dubious preliminary session met in the United States, the site doubtless would have been some austere chamber of the U. N. In Britain, the locale could have been none other than gloomy Westminster Hall, built for and consecrated to world church gatherings and such decorous affairs as conventions called to debate reforms in the calendar and changes in the alphabet.

Would Have Been Different Had the deputies assembled in Moscow, news dispatches would have told of small formal meetings in bare-walled rooms, with the delegates seated in straight-backed chairs and the tedium finally relieved only late in the evening by ballet performances and vodka-spiked banquets.

Against these choices, the government of France—embroiled in a political crisis and still without a parliamentary confirmed leader at the moment—offered the utmost in luxury and cultural background.

Whether the soft, artistic atmosphere of the "pink palace" will have any effect upon the big four negotiations is a question impossible to answer.

History shows that solutions to seemingly insurmountable problems have been found in Paris when they were out of the question in any other city. The background atmosphere was important at the field of the cloth of gold and when Napoleon and Alexander of Russia met on an imperial yacht in the Baltic sea off Tilsit.

Attitudes Not Altered Passage of the weekend has done nothing to alter the fundamental attitudes of east and west regarding the likelihood of some measure of success at this meeting.

United States Representative Philip C. Jessup summed up the American attitude powerfully. We are from Missouri, he said. In other words, The Soviets must prove their sincerity.

Great Britain's parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs Ernest Davies going into the conference braced with the knowledge that any European solution will simplify his country's precarious problems in the far east.

And Alexandre Parodi of France is the first of all to realize that any Soviet aggression in Europe at the present time of unpreparedness would transform his native soil once again into a monumental graveyard.

In Line With Contradictions The decision to pick out a dual palace for the big four session is in line somehow with the contradictions that prevail in Europe today.

Great Britain is soliciting the tourist trade of the world for a gigantic "festival" of industry and the arts on which millions have been spent.

France is celebrating the 2,000th anniversary of Paris. It was two millenniums ago that the Romans founded the settlement of Letitia on the Seine and built the groundwork of a civilization then far beyond the scope of contemporary imagination.

And at the same time, rearmament against aggression has become necessary and the representatives of the major world powers have assembled to decide whether the world can live together as an entity or must split itself apart for all time. If nothing else, the French have provided a meeting place conducive to philosophic reflection, if such a thing remains possible.

Folks Of Fame

Born in Plymouth, Vt., July 4, 1872, Calvin Coolidge studied law in Northampton, Mass., where he began his law practice and became a councilman and mayor. He was elected governor of Massachusetts for two terms, and was elected vice president of the United States in 1921. Owing to the President's death, he became President of the United States in 1925, the oath of office being administered by his father in Plymouth. He served out the late President's term and was elected President, serving until 1933, when he retired to private life. He died January 5, 1933, at Northampton, Mass.

Eleanor Steber was born in Wheeling, W. Va., July 17, 1916. Her singing career began in 1935. She won the Metropolitan Opera company Audition of the Air in 1940, and has been with the Met since the autumn of that year. She has sung with the San Francisco Opera, and as soloist with most of the symphony orchestras. She has made extended concert tours throughout the United States, Canada and Cuba, and has frequently been heard over the air waves. Her home is at Port Jefferson, L. I., New York.

Sorrento Pretty Town

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

SORRENTO, March 6.—There may be a prettier little town in the world than this, or a friendlier one, but I won't believe it until someone puts my hat and coat on me, takes me by my dimpled little hand, and leads me to it.

We've been here less than two days, yet I honestly believe we know half the people in the town. I know the captains of the boats which run to Capri, just around the bend of the peninsula; Mario and Tony who operate the best pizza place in the world; they cook in an oven 250 years old and whose 2,000-year-old duplicate can be seen in Pompeii; Peppe, moustache proprietor of the seafood restaurant which specializes in fried baby octopus; the Barsalino hat store man; the chemist; Bigia, whose lace and embroidery store is the biggest in Sorrento; and two-thirds of the town's blades who lounge in the town square back of the garden of the Hotel Vittoria.

Beloved by Caruso The Vittoria, which stands on a precipitous bluff, and is reached by an elevator that is cut through the rocks from quayside to the summit, is the hotel that was most beloved by Caruso. He always kept a suite here and always returned when engagements would allow. The natives like to tell of how he would stand on the balcony of his room of a morning and give concerts, sometimes an hour long.

This being the off-season in Sorrento I have a mammoth room and acres of balconies for less than I'd pay for a double room in New York. It is the room—as the management has pointed out at least a dozen times—that General Mark Clark occupied, and is big enough for the general and a good-sized army. Naples can be seen across the bay, and closer by, Vesuvius. For what I'm paying it's the all-time bargain in views.

As a rule I'm not a garden stroller, but the one at the Vittoria has brought out my strolling qualities. It is a city block long and half a block wide, and is filled with flowers of every hue; orange, lemon, olive and almond trees, stately pines and most of the varieties of Italian birds.

Hundred Tiny Restaurants Sorrento must have a hundred tiny restaurants where out-of-this-world food, and a good, clear Sorrento wine can be had for a pittance. The White Sail, where Peppe holds forth hard by the bay, serves the sweetest, tenderest, and Mario's pizza—served by son Tony, who, to add a touch of style for Americans, slipped on a hat, coat and sweater—is the Pizza to end all pizza.

Tomorrow, if the weather is fine, we're going around the bend to Capri—pronounced "Kopree" with the accent on the "Kop"—and the Blue Grotto.

Try singing "Beautiful Isle of Capri" with the correct Italian pronunciation! (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

PEACE OF MIND That peace of mind which mortals seek. In simple things must lie. It's not upon the mountain peak Or stuff which coin can buy.

It's not assured by wealth or fame. Nor for the strongest meant. For some who've won the world's acclaim Have suffered discontent.

It comes from little gardens gay with blossoms, spring to fall: In tasks well done from day to day. And friends who come to call.

It's in the humble home where love Keeps all things neat and trim; In steadfast faith in God above And trusting, all to Him.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF Edna Ferber is working on her most important novel in many years at her sumptuous estate in Easton, not far from Bridgeport. An attraction of the place that is second only to Miss F's witty conversation is the swimming pool, but the hostess's stern insistence that guests take a shower before essaying a jacuzzi from the diving board has discouraged all but the hardiest natators.

Even in mid-summer, the temperature of Miss Ferber's shower approximately 20° below zero. One distinguished publisher attempted a bit of innocent flim-flam, turning on the shower full force, crying out in agony, and slapping himself and puffing at a great rate, though he carefully stayed about five feet away from the shower. It availed him naught, however. By a brilliant flanking maneuver, Miss Ferber sneaked around the back of the bath house and propelled him into the icy cataclysm. It took him eight hours to thaw out.

Lefty Gomez says that the Yankee squad of his day included a catcher who was so ugly that when he sent his photograph to the Lonely Hearts Club they returned it with this notation on the back: "Sorry, bub, but we're not THAT lonely." NEW YORK—Bernard Baruch, explaining the secrecy with which he flew to New York for treatment of a sprained leg—"I didn't want them taking my picture on a stretcher. Got enough picture of me anyway."

On The Town

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"Don't Call Him Mister." Liberal Republicans are growling because news columnists keep referring to Sen. Taft as "Mr. Republican." The GOP has no copyright on the term; and Rep. Clarence Brown, who first pinned the title on Taft, is not claiming any royalties on its use. But left-bower Republicans are saying that only the party convention has the right to bestow a "peerage" on a GOP member. Such Senators as Morse, Duff, Lodge and Margaret Smith are currently making speeches which are intended to infuse liberal principles into the Grand Old Party prior to the 1952 convention. Until then, it is being politely requested that Taft have no handle to his name.

"For Services Rendered." A Washington employment agency complains to your reporter that the Democratic National Committee is violating the anti-trust laws ("acting in restraint of trade"). It seems that the peddling of Federal jobs by a party official in Mississippi is not in full compliance with practices of the job-getting profession. The standard employment agency contract, which is on my desk, requires a job-seeker to agree "to pay . . . 25 per cent of my first month's salary or wages for positions up to $200; 30 per cent for $200 and over." The Democratic National Committee, in Mississippi and elsewhere, is peddling thousands of new defense jobs at irregular rates of kick-back. Since the committee is clearly acting as an employment agency, it should have a standard contract for job-getting and should be placed in fair competition with private enterprise of that field.

"Honorable Retirement."—Under the new 22nd Amendment a President can still conduct a reelection campaign and serve as long as ten years in the White House. The next move by the forces of presidential limitation will be an amendment to authorize a single six-year term. Under such a plan no president in office could be a candidate for reelection. He would be able to devote his full time and ambition to making a good executive record. Also, the political genius of the country would be enriched by former Presidents who never knew the ignominy of defeat. Both Jefferson and Jackson, rising undefeated, lived to be wholesome influences in party and national life. They did not suffer, as Mr. Hoover did for many years, the political ostracism of involuntary retirement.

"Steamheated Foxholes." Charles E. Wilson, the big blunt man in charge of defense mobilization, accidentally stepped on some tender toes recently when he said that defense workers might have to live in trailer camps. This sort of talk is heresy among disciples of the Welfare State. Not long before Wilson's matter-of-fact statement, there was some typical Fair Deal testimony before the Senate subcommittee on defense housing. One prominent witness stated that any new housing legislation "should make it possible to avoid much of the hardship and in some cases heart-breaking family dislocations which grew out of the need of the breadwinner to go into the defense area." Some day Wilson, or even Mr. Truman, will have to explain that "hardship" and "heart-breaking family dislocations" of this mild sort are among the things which cannot be "avoided" when we undertake to prepare for global war.

"GI Colleges." Senator Smathers will soon submit his bill for "GI education in advance," a plan to train all college student-draftees without removing them from the campus. Smathers, a Florida University graduate and Marine Corps officer, says that his bill would save millions of dollars in military construction. The money thus saved, of course, would be spent many times over for higher education. Smathers believes that the investment in human minds is far sounder than one in temporary buildings. Even so, his plan is due to come under cross-fire from both political camps. Liberals say that the Smathers scheme discriminates in favor of the rich who can afford to leave home for college. Conservatives contend that it will open new floodgates for a tidal wave of Federal spending. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It is considered rather dull, as we all know, to talk about the weather.

But today is one of those unspeakably icky days when you can't think about anything but the weather, because it's all weather and nothing else.

My wife woke up with a sore throat and had to gargle. I feel the flu coming on.

So what else can you think about that is more interesting than this gosh-darn messy, dampish, slimy, muddy, nasty, influenza weather?

I just read a dispatch from Nukualofa, and at the moment that's where I would like to be.

Nukualofa is the capital of the Tonga Islands, better known as the Friendly Islands.

The name Nukualofa means "Land of Love." It was out in the South Pacific and, according to the descriptions, it's a perfect place.

They just celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the kingdom's treaty with Great Britain, and what a celebration it was!

They have a queen by the name of Salote Tubou, who is six feet three inches tall, weighs 280 pounds, is 51 years old, and is reputed to be as good-natured as she is heavy.

She rode in state procession with Sir Brian Freestone, the British High Commissioner for the Western Pacific (no relation to the railroad by the same name), and the route along which they drove was decorated with 35 ceremonial arches. Thousands of her subjects were lined up along the way and cheered their heads off at their queen.

Then they had a sumptuous "Luau," or feast, with a menu that certainly sounds more inviting than most of those state banquets on our country which I have had to attend.

There were suckling pigs roasted on spits which extended for 200 yards on the palace grounds. There were mounds of crayfish, poultry, yams, taro root, bananas, watermelons and native puddings.

There were all kinds of presents from King George VI, from the British Labor Government, and from many British and native dignitaries.

For some unknown achievement Sir Brian, by order of the King, decorated the queen's son, Crown Prince Uaghi, who at 31 years of age weighs 280 pounds, with the honorary order of a Commander of the British Empire.

I don't know what good that decoration will do him, but, at any rate, it is a very pretty geegaw.

Queen Solote made a very pretty speech in the Luau.

She said that the treaty with England is a good example to the whole world that two nations can live together in peace and harmony, and that a small community can keep its territory inviolate if it is free from threats of violence.

Her speech reminds me of the grandiloquent orations the delegates from Poland and other satellite European countries have made in the U. N. about their lovely and harmonious relations with the sweet, benign, peaceful Soviet Union.

So, if you don't like our country, why don't you go to Nukualofa, where there is no taxation? (Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

They Say

BELGRADE—Yugoslav Chief of Staff Col. Gen. Kocha Popovic—"I agree that the Soviet Union is unconquerable, but it is no longer invincible—just as no power is invincible which marks off world conquest as its goal."

WASHINGTON—Dr. Vannevar Bush, wartime head of the government's office of scientific research and development—"If Russia sent its armies rolling across the German plains tomorrow, we with our A-bombs and planes to carry them would destroy Russia. We could do it without question as matters stand today."

WASHINGTON—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, head of selective service—"I want to see a permanent system of training for our people, so they can survive individually and so that this country will survive."

Marshall Says Big Air Force Plan In Europe

By JACK LOTTO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 6.—Defense Secretary Marshall says the United States will fill the skies of Western Europe with warplanes in powerful support of the unified ground armies of the Atlantic pact nations. The defense chief said the U. S. also will provide a massive armada of ships in the buildup to secure the Democratic world against Communist aggression.

General Marshall said in a lecture at Columbia University last night.

"We are assigning to this undertaking Army, Navy and Air Forces—much more support on sea and in the air than on the ground."

The United States is planning on sending a total of six divisions of ground troops to Europe.

Marshall emphasized that the Atlantic pact nations are "not neglecting" to build up their own ground armies because they are mindful of "past military history."

He added:

"The experience of battle points in the continued and decisive role of ground forces and there is no new development on the horizon that would relegate the foot soldiers to limbo in the near future."

Marshall did not mention Russia by name but warned that "our antagonist" will strike whenever he chooses. He said, however, that:

"The combined and integrated ground forces of the North Atlantic treaty states, properly deployed and heavily supported from the air and aided from the sea should give an imprudent aggressor something to think about before he dares set out on a hostile venture."

Miss Jean Mathews, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William B. Mathews, R. D. 2, New Castle, is one of 62 women from the College of Wooster who will go on an eastern tour with the girls' chorus during the spring vacation, March 30 to April 10.

The chorus is directed by Miss Eve Roine Richmond, professor of voice.

Proposes State Set Up T.V. Station

BOSTON, March 6. — (INS) — State Senator Andrew P. Quigley proposed today that Massachusetts set up a state-owned television station at a cost of $200,000.

Quigley told the legislature profits from the station could be devoted to financing the new $54,000,000 old age assistance bill.

County Red Cross Gray Ladies Work 3000 Hours In 1950

Mrs. Lyle Hughes, chairman of Gray Ladies' Service, Lawrence County Red Cross, has released statistics and data concerning the activities of the service during 1950.

Once the Gray Ladies served only in military and veterans' hospitals but they are now seen in blood centers, community homes for incurables, and the aged, or crippled children. They teach hospitalized children, and illiterate patients and serve on disaster operations.

Lawrence County has 15 Gray Ladies serving three days a week at Deshon Veterans' Administration's hospital. During 1950 the Gray Ladies gave 3,000 hours service, hours spent in many different capacities.

The Ladies escorted wheel chair patients, assisted in recreational programs, wrote letters, distributed cigarettes, wrapped packages, purchased articles not available at the service canteen and performed necessary tasks at Thanksgiving, and Christmas.

The Gray Ladies have become a traditional part of Red Cross military services in military and veterans' hospitals.

Union High School Student Honored

Union high school, recently honored by having Charles Kelso selected for the All-State high school chorus, has been honored once more, this time in the instrumental branch of music education.

From March 15-17, Union high will be represented at the All-State Band Festival, in Farrell, by Diane Farrington, clarinetist.

Diane participated in the district band festival at Hickory Township, February 1-2-3 and distinguished herself there by ranking high in her section.

On the basis of her work at Hickory, she was selected for the All-State band. At Union, Diane also sings in the chorus and is on the staff of the U-Hi News.

The All-State band will give one evening concert, Saturday, March 17, at Farrell high school. All-State band is an annual festival sponsored by the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association.

The proximity of this year's festival gives New Castle residents a rare opportunity to hear the best high school band musicians in our state assembled under one director.

Scout Leaders Back From Camp

Gain Much Timely And Useful Information

From training camp at Camp Agawam, the junior leaders of Boy Scout troop No. 4 have returned after the week end. Twelve leaders and scoutmaster Bill Weitz were in attendance. In spite of inclement weather, the Scouts' spirits were not dampened.

The training went along as scheduled and consisted of knot-tying, cooking, axmanship, songs, first aid, exploration hikes and plenty of experience camping in rainy weather.

A good menu was provided, and the Scouts assisted each other in preparation of the meals. It was decided by the leaders that due to the inability of most young boys to use a knife or axe correctly and proficiently, each Scout would be required to demonstrate his ability.

No Scout will be permitted to carry a knife or axe until he can use them correctly. When this occurs, each Scout will be issued a wallet sized card printed on heavy paper resembling a pilot's license. He must also subscribe to the seven points of the woodman's code.

The troop leaders state that they all gained some useful information from this latest camping experience.

This evening at seven o'clock the troop will have its regular meeting at Mahoning school, with scoutmaster Bill Weitz in charge.

A sound color motion picture will be shown during the meeting.

A troop leaders council will be held immediately following the troop meeting.

Presbyterians To Have Candidate

Rev. Harold W. Eller of Wells-ville, O., pastor of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, will preach at Mahoningtown Presbyterian church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service.

Rev. Eller will be a candidate for the pastorate.

Westminster Students Teach At Ward School

Misses Margie Grant and Elinor Shindelecker, in their senior year of studies at Westminster college, are at Mahoning school doing some student teaching for several weeks in the third grade classes, in Miss Hilliard's and Miss Zahniser's rooms.

Presbyterian Women Have Joint Meeting

Members of the Opportunity Circle of Mahoningtown Presbyterian church were entertained in the home of Mrs. R.L. Drumheller of West Madison avenue recently. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. W. H. Leitch.

An interesting book review was given by Mrs. M. Throop of Bessemer, "So Sure of Life," which was well received. The M. E. G. auxiliary were invited guests.

Mrs. L. M. Wilkinson, president, was in charge of a short business session.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. A. Maud and Mrs. J. M. Frey.

Next meeting will be Friday, April 6, place to be announced later.

Brownie Troop No. 59 Makes Easter Bunnies

On Monday afternoon members of Brownie troop No. 59 assembled in Mahoning school after school sessions.

President Anita Colli was in charge of the opening exercises. The Brownie promise was given and the group sang a number of Scout songs. Antonette Ezzo read the minutes of last meeting. Treasurer Rosaline Maiorano gave her report.

Making of Easter bunny toys was begun and they will be sent to the hospitals this week end. After Easter holidays the Brownie troop will collect rare postage stamps and begin studying about United States mail.

Troop leaders in charge were Mrs. Eulene Shope, Mrs. Jennie Singer, Mrs. Virginia Berry, with committeewoman Mrs. Lee Wilkinson. Next meeting, Monday, March 12.

Seventh Ward Notes

In their fire hall the North Beaver township firemen and auxiliary will have their regular meeting Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Red Cross pictures will be shown and type blood of the group will be taken.

Mahoning Parent-Teachers association chorus meets this evening in classroom of Miss Jean Weber in Mahoning school.

News Briefs From City Hall

During Council meeting Monday, Council approved payment of $5,813.34 to the Francis Motor Sales company for three new Ford cars purchased by the city for the police department, all of which are now in service. Council also approved the city's February electric bill, amounting to $5,837.48, presented by the Pennsylvania Power company.

Preparation of Sylvan Heights golf course will get under way within a few days. Monday Council granted Mayor Haven authority for the employment of two laborers. The men to be employed worked there last year.

Several clerks in the treasury department and solicitor's department were transferred to the earned income tax bureau. They will work there temporarily.

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna has ordered 2,000 licenses for bicycles. He said this morning he had not arranged for their inspection and licensing, but said dates would soon be arranged. Sixteen hundred bicycles were licensed last year, but approximately 2,000 were licensed in 1949. It is estimated several hundred bicycles were not licensed last summer.

City streets sweeper is in operation day and night. It operated in the downtown district last night and was operated on the North Hill today. The city is without ashes.

A few tons of slag have been procured and has been put on dirt streets which need repairs. Councilman Hoyland has advocated the use of waste crockery material from the pottery for a base on dirt streets.

Annual Meeting Of Artificial Breeding Co-Op

Members of the Lawrence County Artificial Breeding Co-operative association will gather in the courthouse here Thursday evening, March 8, at 8:15 for the annual meeting of the association. It was announced today by F. W. Byers of North Beaver township, president.

The program will include reports of the officers and technicians. George Thompson, manager of the Western Pennsylvania Co-operative, which the county association is affiliated, will give a report on the activities for 1950.

Clyde Hall, extension dairy specialist, of Penn State college, will give a talk on "How to select bulls which will improve the herd."

St. Marys Sodality Discussion Meeting

Members of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Marys church met Sunday, March 4, after 8 o'clock mass in the church.

The meeting opened with a prayer led by Sr. Miriam Joseph, Rosalie Gallagher, secretary, read the minutes and the treasurer's report was given by Kathleen Carlin. Vice prefect Patricia Chip spoke on parliamentary procedure of a meeting, with Sr. Miriam Joseph, moderator of the sodality, discussing a religious vocation and the order of St. Joseph of Carondelet.

Our Lady chairman, Donna Lee, explained the Seven Dolours, while Joan Caldwell and Mary Kay McGuirk spoke on St. Thomas Aquinas and St. Patrick respectively. Catholic Truth chairman, Helen Mangine, made it known to the sodalists that there would be a special holy hour devotion at 7:30 o'clock for the sodality on Holy Thursday. Miriam Wallace gave a talk on "The Vocation to Marriage" and Janet Donovan explained the procedure of rules for Holy Week.

Mary Theresa Dougherty, Rita Logue, Donna Hogue and Rose Marie Murphy gave interesting explanations of the Pittsburgh Diocesan Sodality retreat held at Carrick, Pa. Father Goralka presented a few remarks to the girls.

The special entertainment committee presented a short skit called "The Old One Room School," with the cast including Anastasia Barnes, Faith Shaner, Ethel Fauzey, Patricia Kearns, Rose Marie Mulcahy, Patricia Kennedy, Joan Palmer, and Ruth Woods.

Prefect Laura Miloser announced that the May Queen will be elected at the next meeting. The meeting closed with the reading of the Little Office by Our Ladies chairman Donna Lee and will assemble again on April 1.

When Nasty Colds Leave You WEAK AND RUNDOWN HADACOL CAN HELP

If Your System Lacks Vitamins B¹, B², Niacin and Iron, Which HADACOL Contains

When a nasty cold leaves you in a weakened and run-down condition, HADACOL can help build you up if your system is lacking in Vitamins B¹, B², Niacin and Iron, important elements contained in HADACOL. Many folks have found that this fine family formula helps overcome these deficiencies and soon they feel good again.

Mrs. A. Jimenez, 141 East 13th St., Port Arthur, Texas, gave HADACOL to her young son, Floyd, after he had recovered from a bad cold when she heard how HADACOL was helping folks suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B¹, B², Niacin and Iron. It helped him so much in regaining his strength and energy that Mrs. Jimenez says she is always going to have HADACOL on hand for Floyd.

Here is Mrs. Jimenez's statement: "My son Floyd was very subject to colds. He's eleven years old, and he was run-down, didn't seem to have an appetite at all and just simply lacked energy. I heard about HADACOL on the radio, and it with about this time that Floyd was just recovering from a siege of a bad cold. He was very run-down, lacked an appetite, and I started giving him HADACOL. After about a bottle and a half I could notice an improvement. His appetite picked up and he had increased strength. I think HADACOL has done wonders for Floyd, and can't praise it enough. I have continued to give him HADACOL and intend to always have it on hand for Floyd."

Men, women and children of all ages are praising HADACOL for supplying Vitamins B¹, B², Niacin and Iron which their systems lacked. Don't let that "After-Cold Run-Down Feeling" drag you down—HADACOL can help you too, if you suffer such deficiencies. Sold on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great after the first few bottles you take or your money back. Trial size, $1.25; large family economy size, $3.50.

Constitutional Revision Plan In Legislature

HARRISBURG, March 6—(INS)

—Constitutional revision today pressed the controversy over the civil defense program for a share of the legislative spotlight.

Civil defense will be aired during House debate late this afternoon in the Senate.

Sen. Donald P. McPherson (R) Adams, will ask the Republican caucus for the green light on his proposals to test voting sentiment for revision of the state's 77-year-old constitution before the huge task is undertaken under a sizeable expenditure.

McPherson, chairman of the committee on constitutional changes and federal relations, introduced a bill which would give voters an opportunity in November to show whether they favored revision. He also sponsored two joint resolutions which would delay any revision until after the whole problem was studied by the fact-finding joint state government commission plus a 15-member advisory board and a report filed with the general assembly in 1953.

The bill was sent to his committee while the resolutions were turned over to the rules committee.

The administration of Gov. John S. Fine has plans to set up delegates for election next November to a constitutional convention next year.

Ministers Hear Many Reports At Monday Session

Dr. Hyman Appelman Speaks To Pastors During Meeting

During a highly interesting informal session conducted Monday in the First Presbyterian church, members of the New Castle Ministerial Association heard an inspirational address given by Dr. Hyman Appelman of Kansas City, Mo., who spoke on "Christian Unity In The Ministry."

The session opened with a short devotional period, followed by the business of the day, led by Dr. J. Paul Graham, president of the association. The president introduced, Envoy Robert Marshall of the Salvation Army, Gerald Nord of the Highland U. P. church, Rev. Francis Johannides of the Hoover Heights church and Rev. Thomas Caliendo, pastor of Christ Methodist church.

The radio committee report was given by Rev. Everett Spring, who listed speakers for the next three Sunday afternoons, they being, Rev. Floyd Duncan, Rev. Robert Mayo and Rev. Thomas Jones. Hospital chairman, Rev. A. E. Simon, related that 500 additional report cards had been purchased for use at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Looking ahead to the summer vesper services for the community, Rev. James Rainey, Rev. J. Calvin Rose and Dr. A. C. Schultz were named to take the program under advisement and formulate committees. Mrs. W. J. Caldwell reported that the presentation of the oratorio "Hora Novissima" would take place at the First Methodist auditorium on April 29 at 8 p. m. Rehearsals would start Monday evening at the Y.W.C.A. The pastors promised support in the work.

Holy Week Plans
A committee headed by Rev. Thomas Jones, related that plans for observance of Holy Week among the local protestant churches had been completed. Services would be held Monday through Friday at noon, during Holy Week in First Methodist church, while on Good Friday, the traditional three hour service would take place in First Presbyterian church. Speakers for the Holy Week and Good Friday services are yet to be named. The service in First Presbyterian church would be from noon to 3 p. m.

Rev. Earl E. Collins, reported that the plans for a community sunrise service had been dropped due to the fact that permission for use of Taggart stadium was turned down by the school board.

Low Rental Project
Dr. Rose, read a communication from a local resident in regard to the erection of a low rental housing project for the Negro population of the city. The letter asked what had become of the survey conducted here, as there were 1400 Negroes living in 1300 rooms and since that time 35 dwellings have been torn down through condemnation proceedings.

The committee asked for the privilege of having Dr. James Gillespie and a state official present the project to the pastors at a subsequent meeting with the thought in mind of reviving the project to improve living conditions in the city. The opportunity was granted to present the problem in the near future.

Speakers Presented
The Almira and County Home report was given by Rev. H. H. Grove in the absence of Dr. R. M. Patterson chairman of that committee. He gave the lineup of speakers for the next month.

Dr. Rose, program chairman was called to introduce the speaker of the hour, Dr. Appelman. He in turn asked Rev. George Jones, pastor of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle and General chairman of the Christ For Greater New Castle campaign to present the speaker. Rev. Jones stated briefly the campaign objectives in which the inside and outside the churches were to be reached.

Dr. Appelman, used Luke 24:25 as his Scripture reference, stating that if we are to have unity in the churches and among the pastors, we must first begin at Jerusalem or home. He told the large assemblage of pastors that the message today is the same as it was in Christ's time, it is just as old fashioned as the Book. He told the pastors that the methods also and the conditions are the same, men and women must have Christ reproduced in their hearts. He told the audience that men today need a new experience in their hearts and if men with changed hearts would rule the world, the world will be changed. A faithful pastor will be a fruitful pastor and a fruitful pastor will be a faithful one the speaker concluded.

Ecclesian Cub Pack Has Program

The River theme prevailed at the recent meeting of Ecclesian club Pack 50, held in the Ecclesian club. Old Man River in the person of Charles J. Kelley chairman of the Pack was in attendance.

The center of the hall depicted a river scene with canoes, rowboats and even a showboat. This area was roped off and marked by stanchions to which were attached imitation lifesavers. On display tables were miniature river scenes, model boats, lanterns and other handicraft by the various dens.

The Shenango river was chosen by Pack 50 for its theme. A map, drawn by one of the den chiefs from geological surveys, showed the source, course and mouth of the river. Old Man River narrated the history and gave geological, natural and other features. As he did so, cubs in various costumes such as Norsemen, pirates, Indians, colored slaves and present day sailors passed before the audience. Music with the river theme served as an accompaniment.

C. Mark Batz, institutional representative, gave a brief talk. Awards were made by Jess Colaluca of the Boy Scout troop committee to Victor Mangino of the Webelos rank and a graduation certificate to Robert Marino the Lion award and to Frank Mitolo, the Bobcat pin.

Cubs of Den 6 rendered the songs, "Row, Row, Row Your Boats," and "Way Down Upon the Swannee River." A number of prospective cubs and their parents were in attendance and cubmaster W. Hubert Cummings gave a talk on cubbing and issued application forms to the boys.

Refreshments were served the cubs and boys who were their guests. The next pack meeting will be on March 28, in the Ecclesian club, and the theme will be Scouting around the world.

A single train long enough to carry a year's output of coal in the United States would stretch six times around the earth.

Rotarians Hear Sight-Conservation Program On Monday

In connection with "Save Your Vision" Week, which is being observed nationally this week, New Castle Rotary club members enjoyed a program in keeping with the occasion, at their weekly luncheon meeting in The Castle, Monday noon.

The speaker was John L. D. Bassett, a representative of the Corning Glass company, who spoke on the subject, "Co-ordination of lighting in the public schools."

He accompanied his talk with slides, showing the strides which have been made in recent years, in producing better lighting in the school room.

Much has been accomplished in reducing glare and at the same time taking advantage of sunlight, by using glass brick, which diffuses the light, throwing it against the ceiling to be reflected down into the room. Other methods of making the best use of light, by using natural wood for desk tops to reduce the contrast between the paper the child uses and a dark desk top, results in a reduction of eyestrain and also helps to prevent bad posture, Mr. Bassett pointed out.

He also showed how glass blackboards, of a green color, reduce the contrast between the white chalk and the background, compared to the old blackboards.

EIGHT New Wilmington Scouts Perform For Kiwanians

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of New Wilmington entertained their families, friends and members of the New Wilmington Kiwanis club Monday evening at the New Wilmington U. P. church at an all-Scout dinner.

Approximately 200 persons were present for the tureen dinner meeting, which was sponsored by the Kiwanis club sponsor of the scout units of the borough.

The meeting was in charge club president Robert Kelly. The singing of "America," and invocation by Rev. Rowland White, chairman of the Kiwanis club's boys and girls committee acted as toastmaster for the evening.

First portion of the program was put on by Cub pack No. 33, under the direction of cub leader Fred Rowland and assistant leader H. D. Cody. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mounts.

Den No. 4 sang "The Thing" with Paul Brown at the piano.

Mr. Rowland introduced J. C. Hildrebrand, Lawrence County Boy Scout executive, who spoke briefly on the importance of the training in the home in building good citizenship.

Musical Program

Next was a musical program by the Senior Girls Scout troop No. 2. Faye Huff introduced the girls of the troop in the absence of the troop advisors.

Elaine Lehman played a flute solo "The Whistler and His Dog"; Martha Reaney sang "At Night"; Mary Lou Mansell played a piano solo, "Waltz in a Flat"; and Faye Huff played a saxophone solo, "Bacchante".

Mr. Buckwalter introduced Charles Krause, scoutmaster of Troop No. 33, who spoke briefly. The troop put on the tureenfoot investment which was very colorful and well received.

Last portion of the program was put on by Girl Scout troop No. 6. Leaders, Mrs. Rowland White and Mrs. Fred Rowland, were introduced. Mrs. Ruth Forsythe, Lawrence county Girl Scout executive director, who spoke on the Girl Scout program.

The girls and leaders of the troop put on a safety quiz program in radio style, with John Buckwalter and master-of-ceremonies. The program brought out what had been taught in regards to safety, etc.

The meeting closed with the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Plans are well under way for the annual basketball dinner to be held at the U. P. church on April 2, it is reported. Denny Schill will be principal speaker.

New Official Is Named By Erie R.R.

Announcement has been made by the Erie Railroad Company of the appointment of J. R. Ebert as assistant superintendent of the Mahoning Division, with headquarters at Youngstown, O.

Mr. Ebert succeeds F. X. Garland, who retired from active duty on March 1, after 35 years of service with the company. The changes became effective March 1. The announcement was made by V. J. Mullen, superintendent.

Rev. O. Sloan Whitacre was pleasantly surprised on Tuesday evening when he was taken to the dining room of the church where the elders and trustees and their wives were waiting with a delicious twelve dinner. He was presented with a prettily decorated cake by Mrs. Jesse Nesbitt. Following the dinner Rev. Whitacre was presented with a fitting gift.

MISSION CIRCLE

The Philathea Mission Circle met on Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Mattie Phillips. The program on "The Near East" was presented by Mrs. Ralph Allison, Mrs. D. L. Whiting and Mrs. John Holtzman. During the business meeting plans were made for the congregational dinner to be held on March 30. Following the dinner there will be the annual congregational meeting.

Shoots At Crow, Shot Hits Building Of Fireworks Co.

PEARL RIVER, N.Y., March 6. —(INS)—A mighty hunter is Frank Perkins, Jr.

Perkins, 24, stood on the bank of the Hackensack river, pointed his shotgun at a crow and fired. At that moment the peaceful community of Pearl River thought it had become Pearl Harbor.

There was a tremendous explosion. For 20 miles around in New York and New Jersey people thought there had been an atomic explosion.

Police said the shot hit a building of the Barnabas Fireworks Company, igniting gunpowder and blowing up the structure and five other old frame buildings of the plant, all unoccupied at the time. Ambulances and fire apparatus from a half dozen communities turned out but had nothing to do.

Everything in the plant had exploded or burned and there were no injuries.

The terrorized Perkins jumped in the river with the shotgun and swam away. No charges were placed against Perkins, who emerged from the river when firemen and police arrived.

The crow? He flew away.

Chinese Reds Pick New Field Commander

By BERNARD KAPLAN

(U.S. War Correspondent)

TOKYO, March 6—Red General Peng Teh-Huai, commander of the Chinese Communist First Field Army, was reported to have been picked as the new field commander of Communist forces in Korea.

Reliable sources said that Gen. Lin Piao has not been replaced as commander-in-chief in Korea, as has been rumored. Indications are, however, that Peng, famed as the Red conqueror of northwest China, will assume some of the authority now yielded by Lin.

These informants said the new field commander's arrival in Korea will be timed to coincide with a planned Red spring offensive which was reported by International News Service a week ago.

Internal Chinese affairs also reportedly influenced Gen. Peng's transfer from Sinkiang, far northwestern base of the First Field Army, to Korea.

Russian Troops Pour In
More and more Russian troops are said to be pouring into Sinkiang, with Mao Tse-tung's consent, to take over garrisoning duties in the remote province which long has been a bone of contention between China and Russia. Peng has strenuously objected to growing Soviet influence, according to these reports, and his transfer was brought about under pressure from Moscow.

An estimated 80,000 Russian troops—six divisions—are believed stationed in Sinkiang. In addition, there are at least 90,000 Russian troops in Manchuria.

The extent of Russian military penetration of South China is less clear. Chinese Nationalists, however, claim that the Russians are building up both naval and air strength in Kwangtung province and along the South China coast.

Training Chinese
Most recent Nationalist reports say there are about 3,000 Russian and Chinese Air Force personnel in South China with possibly as many as 600 planes, mostly obsolete. Most of the pilots are said to be Russians who are training Chinese Reds to fly.

Reports from Hong Kong charge that the Russians are operating submarines in the gulf of Tonkin, off French Indo China, from a well equipped base on Hainan island.

It was not known in Tokyo whether Gen. Peng's new assignment means his First Field Army—an estimated 280,000 men—is also being sent to Korea to reinforce Lin's mauled Fourth Field Army. Such a wholesale transfer of an entire field army would signify the de facto surrender of Sinkiang to Soviet control.

Col. Charles Young Post Plans Meeting

Members of the Col. Charles H. Young Post, American Legion, has been summoned to meet in the Legion Home, Thursday evening, March 8, at 8 o'clock, by District Commander R. Wayne Baird, to discuss a matter of vital interest to the post.

Although Commander Frank Bailey is ill in the hospital, representatives have been asked to attend the meeting, for all members, former members, and eligible members.

A committee composed of Past Commanders Earl C. Moffatt, Guy J. Wadlinger, and Commander Manning Weller, and J. Nick Speed, have been named by District Deputy Commander Joe Solomon to assist with the meeting. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

With the final date for the payment of income taxes only a few days away, Kiwanis club members will have an interesting program in connection with their weekly luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday noon.

The speaker will be G. A. Funkhouser, division chief of the U. S. Internal Revenue Department, located in the Post Office building. He will bring the members up-to-date on many income tax problems.

Local 18-Year-Olds Give Ideas Of Draft Health Talks

BOB BORLAND GERALD ANTHONY BILL MITCHELL BILL SHEEHAN MYRON BROOKS JOHN ANTHONY

"To draft the 18-year-old or not to draft the 18-year-old" seems to be the question uppermost in everyone's mind at this particular time.

Statesmen and military leaders have expounded pro and con on this question for several months and today congress is voting on the important issue of drafting the 18-year-old.

Since the 18-year-olds are the ones directly involved, The New Castle News decided to ask them how they felt about the proposed draft of their age group.

The questions asked were: "How is the proposed draft affecting your plans of the future?" "How do you feel about the drafting of your age group?" "Do you want to go?" "Why?" Should the 18-year-old have the privilege of voting?" "Do you think the 18-year-old should serve overseas?"

Chosen At Random
Six young men were chosen at random. They disclosed that they had been thinking very seriously of these same questions and were eager to tell their side of the story.

One of the first ones asked was Bill Mitchell, 837 E. Washington street. Bill will be 18 in July. He is a senior in school, taking a general course, and works as a part time clerk in a local store.

Bill's opinion is: "I'm going to join the air force upon graduation from school. I believe I would have joined anyhow. I think the draft is a good thing. Kids just out of school are used to taking orders so it doesn't make much difference. A couple years later, after they are on their own for a while, they think they know everything. I'm in favor of universal military training too. It's a good idea. I want to go. I'll enlist. The training is good, learn a lot, too many think they know it all. Draft or UMT would take them down a peg. Yes, the 18-year-old should have the privilege of voting. It would be o-k to send them overseas and to the front lines if they had at least six months to a year's training first."

Bob Borland, 116 Englewood avenue, will be 18 in June. He is a senior taking an academic course, and carries newspapers at wholesale, one cent a pound for butter and 9 dozen for eggs," according to the department.

"Grains were up from three to nine cents a bushel and meat animals advanced from $1.80 to $3.40 a hundred pounds live weight.

Potatoes advanced five cents a bushel, chickens and turkeys 1.5 cents a pound liveweight, and wool at $1 a pound showed an advance of 13 cents.

"Nationally, there was an advance of four per cent in the index of prices received," the department said.

Cost Rises
"Cost of farm production goods continued to rise during the month, with the higher prices for feeder livestock and feed accounting for most of the rise," the department explained. "However, building materials, farm machinery, motor supplies, farm supplies and seed also rose.

Feeder cattle and lamb prices continued to establish new highs. Prices of framing lumber, boards, and siding increased in response to the strong demand for lumber. Galvanized roofing, nails, pipe and fencing continued to rise. Cement and paint prices were up.

"Commercial mixed and by-product feeds generally were up one to five cents a hundred pounds. Average prices for farm supplies were higher in mid-February than a year ago. Motor supplies, except gasoline continued to rise with tires showing the largest increase. Minor upturns also were recorded for retail prices paid by farmers for clothing, building materials, soap and auto supplies."

BLOOD TRANSPORT
NEW YORK — (INS) — In order to transport human blood in large quantities throughout the country the Red Cross is employing the same technique it used in World War II when 9,000,000 blood donations were carried successfully. Since human blood deteriorates rapidly when exposed to temperature variation the donations are carried in refrigerated Church containers from the blood banks or donor centers to the laboratories where it is converted into plasma for final shipment to all parts of the world.

There are some 30,000 species of birds in the world.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER

PERCENTAGE

Butch is "rasslin'" with percentage in school. At first he thought it was all about money. The teacher told him about 6 percent interest and 1 1/2 percent and he got all mixed up.

He and granddad got together on it. Granddad told him that percentage helped to figure out a good many things.

Uncle Jim likes beer. He says that it does not have as much alcohol in it as whiskey does. Granddad said that if beer had 4 percent alcohol and whiskey had 40 percent, a drink of beer had as much alcohol as a drink of whiskey.

He said that a ten ounce drink of 4 percent beer has the same alcohol as a one ounce drink of 40 percent whiskey.

Granddad and Uncle Jim had quite an argument about it and they found out that a telephone pole will stop an auto just the same whether the driver has been drinking beer or whiskey.

Butch figured out that it would be better for Uncle Jim not to drink any beer before driving.

Seek To Eliminate Suspension On First Charge Of Speeding

HARRISBURG, March 6—(INS) Legislation to knock out the mandatory 90 days' suspension of driving privileges for motorists charged with first offense speed violations was proposed today in the House.

The measure, introduced by Republican Assemblymen W. Stuart Helm, of Armstrong, and William R. McMillen, of Indiana, was sponsored at the request of the Keystone Automobile Club.

The bill provides 30 days' suspensions for second offenses, 90 days' for third infractions and one year for fourth offenders.

First offenders would be warned by the state revenue secretary that succeeding offenses would make them liable to stiffer penalties.

Previous offenses would not be counted after two years.

The 90 days' rule was imposed about 14 years ago.

SMOKING MAIL

LONDON—(INS)—British mailmen may now smoke on duty. There will be no more fines or extra duties for a surreptitious drag on a cigarette. The post office, with slight reservations has agreed to the Union of Post Office Workers' demands that the old ban on smoking should be removed.

Russian-Western Proposals Before Big Four Deputies

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager,
International News Service

PARIS, March 6.—(INS)—Russia stated Monday that any big four foreign ministers meeting should consider arms reduction but it demanded that German "demilitarization" be considered first.

The west countered with a demand for priority on the causes of international tension in Europe, meaning Soviet-bloc rearmament, so that a real and lasting improvement in East-West relations could be achieved.

These were the highlights of the opening session of the meeting of big four foreign ministers' deputies to set up an agenda for a full-scale parley later.

The western draft agenda, submitted by the British, also suggested that the Austrian treaty be given second place in the proposed parley, with the German problem third.

Russian Proposal

- The Russian proposal, placing Germany ahead of all others, said nothing about the political unification of that divided land or the Austrian problem.
- The proposed Soviet agenda was reported to provide for discussion of these problems in the following order:
 - 1—Fulfillment by the four powers of the Potsdam agreement regarding demilitarization of Germany and the prohibition of rearmament.
 - 2—Acceleration of the conclusion of peace treaties with Germany, and, in accordance with this, withdrawal of occupation forces.
 - 3—Improvement of the situation in Europe, proceeding immediately to the reduction of the armed forces of the powers—the U. S. S. R., the United States, the United Kingdom and France.
- The opening conference lasted three hours and ten minutes. A French source said "we believe a compromise agreement is still possible between the two viewpoints".

Western Proposal

- The proposed western agenda, submitted by British parliamentary foreign under-secretary Ernest Davies—was outlined as follows:
 - 1—Examination of questions in the present international tensions of Europe and of means to secure a real and lasting improvement in relations among the Soviet Union, the United States, the United Kingdom and France.

2—Completion of a treaty for re-establishment of an independent and democratic Austria.

3—Consideration of problems relating to re-establishment of German unity and preparation for a treaty of peace.

There was no formal discussion of the different agendas. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko did not take any exception to Davies' presentation.

Compromise Not Sought

A British spokesman said: "Although it is too early to say if a compromise between the two drafts is possible, the Russians showed no sign of wanting to compromise. Obviously the Soviets are all out for demilitarization of Germany. That is their main problem. Items 1 and 2 on the Russian draft agenda could go into item 1 on the western agenda."

A French spokesman expressed the view that the agenda negotiations will be "quite long".

Earmarking Of Troops For Use Of U.N. Is Asked

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 6.—(INS)—The United States urged all United Nations members Monday to act immediately to earmark troops for use by the U. N. in the smashing of aggression and prevention of future Koreans.

The U. S. stressed the urgency of building up an international anti-aggression force under the U. N. collective security system. American Delegate Harding F. Bancroft told the 14-nation Collective Measures committee no time must be lost in mobilizing all U. N. resources for peace.

Bancroft addressed the group at its first meeting at U. N. Headquarters. He suggested the committee consider the establishment of a voluntary U. N. army in addition to political, economic and psychological measures to discourage aggression.

The U. S. delegate said the American government is hopeful the foundation for an anti-aggression army will have been laid by September 1, 1951, deadline for the group's report. He said progress in the group's work will encourage free nations on the prospects of peace and "give pause to any who might contemplate the course of aggression."

Bancroft said that the task is not an easy one and may take time. He added:

"The responsibilities of the UN for maintaining peace, however, are immediate; they cannot be postponed. The UN is engaged in action against aggression at this time; none of us knows how soon it may again be called to take similar action."

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Junior Takes Over

Some old college friends of the Drews unexpectedly dropped in to see them recently. No one was home except 13-year-old Donald. Later the Drews' friends were describing their welcome. "Donald was wonderful. He made us feel right at home, remembered having heard his parents talk about us, made some coffee and called his folks so that they would get back before we had to leave. He surely has a lot of poise."

It's very satisfying to see our youngsters "take over" in such situations. Even when they are considerably younger than Donald, children can have learned to take the sort of responsibility that he showed so impressively.

But, of course, we must do our part. Behavior like that of Donald didn't just happen. He had always been treated as a full-fledged member of the family and had been given many opportunities to do his part when guests were in the house. Most important, he had the sort of feeling for his part as a member of the family, that made it "natural" for him to feel at ease and thus show up so well as a host.

HOME BRIDE

"My daughter will marry at home. Please tell her how she should dress—how many attendants are permissible—whether she might have ushers. I think that since it will take place at home she should dress informally."

Answer: She may dress as a bride and have "all the trimming" that she would have in a church wedding—a queue of bridesmaids and ushers, although ushers are not essential in a home wedding as they are in a church wedding.

Should she decide to dress informally, she may correctly have only two attendants—a maid or maitron-of-hono, and a best man. Bridesmaids are correct only when the bride dresses in traditional attire.

Question: I am in doubt as to whether or not I should attend a wedding, the invitation to which was given to me verbally, with the excuse that the bride had run out of invitations. Since I do not know her very intimately, I feel that I should have a written invitation, although I do think she was sincere in asking me to attend. What is your opinion?

Answer: It does seem rather odd that the bride should exhaust her supply of invitations, especially before she had reached the "not too close friends" on her list. An invitation from the bride, however given, entitles you to attend, especially so in your case since you say she was sincere and not including you as an after-thought. You must, of course, send her a gift.

Question: What should the groom and best man wear at an afternoon church wedding?

Answer: At a formal wedding formal daytime dress is necessary—cutaway coat with striped trousers, either black, or for Spring, a white or sand-color waistcoat, black silk socks, black calf (preferred) or patent leather shoes (with or without spats). If chosen, they must match the gloves, bow or four-in-hand tie, white wing collar.

Bethany Lutheran Service Wednesday

Members of Bethany Lutheran congregation will gather in their church Wednesday evening, March 7 at 8 o'clock for a Lenten service. Rev. Paul E. Walthour, the pastor, has chosen "Here Is Your Security" as his sermon theme.

Thomas Ridley will sing "The Lord's Prayer" as an added feature of the program.

There will be a meeting of the building committee held in the Knights of Columbus club rooms Wednesday evening, March 7, at 8:30 p.m. Important matters will be transacted and plans laid for the coming campaign of a new building. Joseph Howley, president of the committee, made the announcement.

Grand Jury Indicts 14

Various Violations Of Gambling Laws Cited In Returns

The campaign of the past three months by city and county law enforcement officers against gambling showed results today in the Lawrence county March grand jury.

True bills were returned against fourteen people charged with various gambling violations.

H. E. Conner and Anthony Conti were indicted as being "common gamblers, establishing a gambling house, keeping a disorderly house and conspiracy."

Domenick Vitale, Ralph Pisculieri, Rocco Mancino, Anthony Ritchie, Frank De Bene, indicted as common gamblers, establishing a gambling house and keeping a disorderly house.

James Pryor, Albert Panella, Myrtle Hambrick, Gust Vogos, Mariano McWhorter, Anthony Rubino and Emma Madison, setting up a gambling establishment.

Largest List
This was the largest list of gambling indictments returned in many sessions of the grand jury. Some of them are charged with operating a gambling house, some for numbers.

Since the first of the year both city and county officers have been waging war upon the gambling fraternity in Lawrence county.

The presentation of the cases to the grand jury was done in a comprehensive fashion and for the purpose of getting a record of the testimony the court stenographer was called and took the testimony down.

There is a rumor around the court house, as yet unconfirmed, that some more indictments will arise out of the testimony given by witnesses on Monday.

Says Government May Take Over Some Of Woolen Plants

BOSTON, March 6.—(INS)—Emil Rieve, president of the CIO Textile Workers of America, said today the government may take over some strike-closed woolen plants because of a reported shortage of fabrics for uniforms for the armed forces.

Rieve said he had been told by defense secretary Marshall that the shortage was due to the 18-day strike of 70,000 woolen workers seeking a 15 cents hourly increase.

Rieve turned down a proposal by deputy defense secretary Lovett for some strikers to return to work to turn out military fabrics.

Rieve said the proposal was made with the understanding that any agreement finally reached would be retroactive for those workers.

The union chief declared: "This would be impossible. It would defeat the purpose of the strike."

Strikers in Lawrence and mills in Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont permitted removal of 240,000 yards of cloth from struck mills for the use of the armed forces. William Pollick, TWUA secretary treasurer, said an explanation:

"We're not fighting the GIs. We're fighting the industry for better wages and working conditions."

'Quickie' Divorce Sought For Barbara

CUERNAVACA, Mexico, March 6.—(INS)—Attorneys for dime store heiress Barbara Hutton go into court today to press for a "quickie" divorce for which she supposedly became eligible last night.

In California, meanwhile, the attorney for Barbara's husband, Prince Igor Troubetzkoy, claimed that efforts of the Woolworth heiress to obtain a Mexican divorce had been "stopped cold."

Melvin Belli, the attorney, said he had talked to Mexican court officials only five minutes before the divorce deadline at 6 p.m. yesterday.

Babs was understood to be eligible for the divorce at that time if there were no contest to her suit. The suit was begun February 26 and under Mexican law the divorce could be granted almost immediately if there is no contest.

A 22-day waiting period would be required if a protest was made. Belli, a Los Angeles lawyer, contended that the "since had not been properly se" and that he believed therefore, at the judge in the case would not grant the decree.

There remained the possibility, however, that Princess Troubetzkoy would win her divorce within the next few days since notice had been posted in Cuernavaca in accordance with Mexican law.

Indianatown Gap To Be Assigned To Fifth Infantry

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., March 6.—(INS)—An army spokesman at Indianatown Gap today confirmed assignment of the post as a training center for the reactivated Fifth Infantry Division.

Captain Clair Wolfe, public information officer, said an operating staff already is at work but the sprawling military reservation will not be ready to receive troops "for some time."

The division will be made up of trainees who will be used as replacements for other army units, Wolfe said.

Maj. Gen. Laurence Keiser, training center commander, will head the division with Col. Thomas J. Wells as chief of staff.

The division, organized in 1917, was nicknamed the "Red Devils" by the Germans.

Landing at Normandy on D-Day, the division fought across Europe to Czechoslovakia.

The division, deactivated at Fort Jackson, S. C., last spring, will be the army's ninth training division in operation.

PLANS TO CELEBRATE
BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., March 6.—(INS)—Berkeley Springs today pondered plans to celebrate the 175th anniversary of the town's founding.

The celebration likely will take the form of a pageant to be held next October.

George Washington was among the original purchasers of lots laid out in 1777. The town originally was called "Ye Towne of Bathe" after a community in England. Its medicinal springs have been patronized since colonial days.

Denies Charge Of Attempt To Shoot Truman

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS)—Oscar Collazo's claim that he was only trying to "make a demonstration" in front of Blair House Nov. 1 is expected to come under heavy fire today at his trial for the murder of a White House guard.

The prosecution hinted it will rip into this part of the little Puerto Rican's testimony when it gets a chance to cross-examine him.

The 37-year-old Collazo repeatedly denied on the witness stand yesterday that he intended to assassinate President Truman.

He recited a long list of Nationalist complaints against the United States and charged that Puerto Ricans were underpaid, underfed and often had to leave the island to find employment.

Create Incident
It was these conditions, Collazo testified, that he and his slain confederate, Griselio Torresola, wanted to spotlight by "creating an incident" in front of President Truman's home.

The swarthy, mild-mannered defendant faces the electric chair if convicted of the first-degree murder of White House guard Leslie Coffelt.

Prosecution witnesses testified that Collazo admitted shortly after the shooting that he tried to assassinate President Truman for "political reasons."

The defense, which called no witnesses other than Collazo himself, is expected to conclude its case today but the trial will probably not go to the jury until tomorrow.

HOTEL PORTER HAS NARROW ESCAPE; FALLS INTO COAL CHUTE

HARRISBURG, March 6.—(INS)—A 75-year-old hotel porter narrowly escaped being buried under tons of coal last night when he fell 18 feet down a coal chute.

John Johnson, of Harrisburg, dropped into the chute as he was leaving the Penn-Harris hotel via a rear exit. Coal delivery men had opened the chute prior to getting their truck in position to unload.

When they began to release the coal they heard Johnson calling faintly and found him lying injured on the bin floor.

Johnson was treated at Harrisburg hospital for leg cuts and a sprained foot.

Ten Billion Dollar Cut In Budget Is Called For

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS)—An independent tax-study organization has called for a ten billion dollar reduction in the 1952 fiscal year budget through immediate suspension of all "non-military" federal spending programs.

The committee on federal tax policy, headed by a former under secretary of the treasury, Roswell Magill, proposed this reduction in the 71.6 billion dollar budget to be taken by the following two steps:

1. Congress with the cooperation of the president would ask the budget bureau to prepare a new budget on a clean-slate basis, with no commitments to any group or program, the total being ten billion dollars below the present 71.6 billion dollars.

2. Congress would then consider the revised proposals on a clean-slate basis and would permit no additional expenditures not proposed by the budget bureau, unless a corresponding amount were cut from other budget proposals.

Only Exception

The only exception to the above procedure would be for increased "direct" military spending, should that become necessary.

The tax policy committee said: "We are recommending this clean-slate approach to federal spending as a sheer necessity at this time. Few people seem to realize that some 35 billion dollars in the proposed budget comes from previous authorizations and commitments, making it virtually impossible for the present Congress to effect needed reductions in these areas. To avoid an intolerable tax burden, Congress must act firmly."

The committee's review of reducible areas includes the following recommendations to reach reduction goals:

Where To Reduce

1. A prompt withdrawal of the federal government from the lending field, and a limitation of its future operations to servicing and collecting outstanding loans, with an estimated saving in fiscal 1952 of 1.5 billion dollars.

2. A deep cut in the public works program and a suspension of all projects not contributing directly to some essential defense purpose, with a resultant saving of 750 million dollars.

3. Drastic curtailment of federal aid, grants, subsidy and special services programs, largely by making the states responsible for various services now supported by the federal government, with an estimated saving of 3 billion dollars.

4. Immediate application of remaining reforms outlined by the Hoover commission and a general tightening up of federal management to eliminate waste, with a saving of 1 billion dollars.

Adding another two billions in savings resulting from sale of loans, mortgages, and commodities, the committee arrived at a non-defense reduction goal of 8 billion, 250 million dollars. It warned, however, that "the precise amounts in the budget total that can be eliminated by applying standards of prudent judgment will have to be carefully worked out by the Congress, with the aid of the administration and the alert and continuous active support of the public."

With respect to defense expenditures, the committee noted that no attempt was made to determine how much could be saved from the seven billion dollars included in the 1952 budget for international aid, or in the 41 billion listed for the military. It also suggested further savings by more exhaustive inspection of civilian expenditures.

Radar-Directed Rocket Firing Devices Are Made

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—(INS)—The Westinghouse Electric Corporation revealed today in its annual report that it is producing radar-directed rocket-firing devices.

The report also told of progress on improved turbo-jet engines and of research on the development of an atomic power plant for submarine propulsion.

Westinghouse President Gwilym A. Price said the radar-directed air-borne control systems for aiming and firing guns and rockets "are far more powerful than any ever built."

More advanced air-borne fire control systems are being developed and are scheduled for early production, Price added. He said a new light automatic pilot, which will control fighter planes in actual combat maneuvers as well as in level flights, also is scheduled for early production.

The report said production of turbo-jet engines reached a new high in 1950.

The firm's net income for 1950 was $77,922,944—an increase of some $10,500,000 over 1949. Net sales for the year were a record $1,019,923,051.

Two Of Principals In Senior High School Play Friday

Jeanne McKissock

Delores Aven

Jeanne McKissock and Delores Aven play the principals in the two romances that thread in and out of a great deal of unromantic but hilariously comic activity in Ne-Ca-Hi's coming production of "Henrietta the Eighth."

Jeanne Louise McKissock has been cast for the title role of Henrietta Carver, a popular novelist's assumed name while she gets herself engaged as the private secretary of an affluent widow devoted to clubs and golf. The widow's household and her family of three highly attractive daughters are suffering from neglect, and the pseudo-secretary has come to the home to secure first-hand local color for a novel on just such a situation. Henrietta the Eighth was given her name before she arrived, by a daughter of the household who noted that she was the eighth in a series who had each in turn resigned. The battleground is soon the elegant living-room of the widow's home. Sally and thrust and siege find Henrietta still holding her ground and winning one ally after another. Jeanne has a really busy evening in her title role as "Henrietta the Eighth."

Delores Aven plays Adele, the eldest and least rattle-pated of the three neglected Sutton daughters. She is all sweetness and light and has a romance of her own, all helping to make her part of the high school girl's ideal role. She is also the prospective victim of the "villain's" machinations. In the end events give her just what the audience wants for the daughter who becomes Henrietta the Eighth's first ally in the Sutton household.

Jeanne Louise McKissock is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McKissock of Park avenue. Delores Aven is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Aven of South Ray street.

MIAMI.—(INS)—During a visit to Hialeah, English Jockey Tommy Gosling, who rides Winston Churchill's horses—stepped on the scales, and sent the arrow zooming to 139. Up piped one American jockey, "What do they race over there: elephants?"

DRY MILK

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Milk in a package is a way to cut your milk bill without cutting down on the amount of milk you use. Non-fat, dry milk solid, is made from fresh milk with the cream and the liquid removed. To use in cooking or baking, you may either reconstitute the powder or use it in the dry form. Folks give different figures for the amount of non-fat dry milk solids to use in a recipe—but the proportion of four tablespoons of dry milk solids to one cup of water works well.

VARITIES

RALEIGH, N. C.—(INS)—There are more than 1,300 tree, shrub and herb varieties in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park on the North Carolina-Tennessee border.

Farm Organizations Oppose Food Subsidy

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS)—Four major farm organizations went on record today opposing government food subsidies which they believe soon will be proposed in Congress.

Food subsidies, known as consumer subsidies in World War II would be paid farmers to help meet production costs and permit them to sell their products at lower-than-cost prices.

The opposing farm organizations included The American Farm Bureau Federation, The National Grange, The National Council of Farm Cooperatives and The National Milk Producers Federation.

CURRENT EVENTS '06 ENJOYS PROGRAM

Mrs. Fred Bell was hostess when members of the Current Events '06 met Monday at the YWCA. Sixteen members answered to roll call with "Irish Wit".

Items of current events followed, with Mrs. Shearer inspiring the members with her discussion pertaining to the doctor who had willed the cornea of his eyes to the blind, and upon his death they were immediately transplanted to the eyes of a blind person who can now see.

On March 26 the group will gather at the YWCA with roll call to be answered with "Bible verse".

HOSLER-TESTA BETROTHAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hosler, R. D. 4, New Castle, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Henry Testa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Testa of 616 North Cascade street.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Westminster Auxiliary

Westminster auxiliary of Central Presbyterian church engaged in a dinner Thursday evening at the Village Inn, Harlansburg. The function was the group's yearly stewardship dinner.

After serving, Miss Beulah McGaffie presided at the business session, when plans were made for a project to be held this month.

A stewardship playlet was presented during the evening.

Mrs. R. M. Patterson, Park avenue, will entertain March 28.

Simon Relief Corps

Members of the Louis E. Simon Relief Corps 11 auxiliary to the G. A. R. will gather on Wednesday evening, March 7, in the Malta hall.

Business will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock by the president, Mrs. Mary Patterson, with a party to be enjoyed by the group following the meeting.

Section One To Dine

Section One will have a tureen dinner in First Christian church Wednesday evening, March 7, at 6:30 o'clock. Mrs. J. F. Hay and Mrs. Mina Herbold will be hostesses.

Welker Class To Meet

Welker class of the Church of the Nazarene will assemble in the green room of the YWCA this evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Margaret Church and Mrs. Bertha Gifford will serve as hostesses.

GIRL SCOUTS

Scout Troop 29 Girl Scouts of troop 29 met at the Lincoln-Garfield school on Saturday, March 3, at 9:30 o'clock with Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Johnson in charge.

New officers were elected as follows: president, Stella Sabatke; secretary, Jean George; treasurer, Helen Vassilion; time keeper, Helen Johnson; scribe, Patty Callahan.

The group worked on the home-making badge in the form of a beauty school. The girls then popped corn and made plans for a sewing project. Taps closed the meeting.

Miller Named Jury Foreman

Grand Jury Meets To Consider Bills

R. Charles Miller, an electrician of the second ward was named foreman of the March grand jury Monday morning when the jury met to consider bills of indictment.

Judge W. Walter Braham charged the grand jury, told them of their authority and responsibilities and urged them to consider every case solely upon the evidence presented by the district attorney.

There were 36 cases to be presented to the grand jury. Of these 16 are liquor control board cases which were returned to the district attorney late Saturday and were not in shape to be presented Monday morning.

A number of pleas have already been taken and others are accepted.

RECEIVES AWARD

PHILADELPHIA, March 6—A 22-year-old Glenshaw telephone installer today was named winner of a Theodore N. Vail Bronze Medal presented by the Bell Telephone Company to Pennsylvania for proficiency in applying first aid.

The medal and $100 will go to James Parker Wait now with the 101st Airborne Division at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

Wait is credited with saving the life of Bert Peters, Homestead, Pa., when the youth's clothing became ignited by a rubbish fire on a vacant lot last Sept. 20.

Over 250,000 Make Visit To Legendary Fountain In Year

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla.—(INS)—More than 250,000 visitors stopped at the legendary Fountain of Youth last year to take a cup of water from the spring symbolizing eternal youth, in quest of which the Spanish explorer Ponce de Leon sailed westward in 1513 to be the first European to set foot on the soil that is now the United States.

In recent years, a burial ground was discovered in the beautiful park surrounding the Fountain of Youth. The skeletons are the only remains of the Indians who lived in the village of Seloy, reported by Ponce de Leon on his landing.

Like many other early Spanish-American sites, the legendary Fountain of Youth on St. Augustine's Magnolia Avenue has become a part of American history, properly set in the oldest city in the United States.

Erie Mayor Awaits Mandamus Writ

ERIE, Pa., March 6—(INS)—Defiant Mayor Clarence Pulling today awaited a writ of mandamus which will give him the opportunity he welcomes.

Pulling refused to sign a contract yesterday which would direct a Dayton, O., firm to handle Erie's triennial assessment for $157,000. City council had approved the contract and ordered the mayor to sign.

Pulling said it's "a waste of money" and claimed local officials could do the job at half the cost.

Council directed the city solicitor to draw up a writ of mandamus and take the mayor to court.

Pulling said he "would welcome" the opportunity.

BIDS REJECTED

HARRISBURG, March 6—(INS)—Bids totaling $1,466,785 were rejected today by the General State Authority on contracts for construction of two wings to the education building at Pennsylvania State College.

The GSA reported the bids exceeded the sum allocated for the project and announced bids will be re-scheduled later.

FOUR OF MOVIES 'FIFTEEN FINEST' NEWCOMERS

EXPERTS in MovieLand say Hollywood, always on the lookout for new talent, was exceptionally lucky in 1950. The "15 finest" newcomers who seem destined for fame include these four: Marilyn Monroe, hailed as the Jean Harlow of 1951. Debra Paget, 17 and the daughter of parents who spent their lives on the stage. Barbara Bates, suddenly one of Hollywood's most talked of young actresses after serving a six-year apprenticeship in the film capital. Denver-born, she has green c.c.s. Mitzi Gaynor, dancer-comediennes lured from the musical comedy stage. Others are Jeff Chandler, Jane Powell, Howard Keel, Mario Lanza, Mala Powers, Marion Brando, Gordon MacRae, Frank Lovejoy, Patrice Wymore, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, and Judy Holliday.

Truman Talks With Leaders From Florida

By ROBERT G. NIXON (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

U. S. SUBMARINE BASE, KEY WEST, Fla., March 6—President Truman, seated in a deck chair on his porch at Key West beach, discussed by telephone Monday the affairs of the nation and the world with his top congressional leaders in Washington.

While a gently breeze ruffled the coconut palm fronds and the surf lapped the beach sands, the president sat in his swimming trunks and conversed nearly a half hour with the congressional leaders on a five-way telephone hook-up.

The president was reported to have discussed "pending legislation, including the manpower bill, and some appropriation measures."

The vacationing president held the telephone conference with his four legislative leaders for about 20 minutes, then he talked with each one individually.

'Big Four' Conference

The "big four" conferees were Vice President Barkley, Senate Majority Leader McFarland, Speaker of the House Rayburn and House Majority Leader McCormack.

The president sent Congress a request for a supplemental appropriation of $97,500,000 for the Voice of America counter-propaganda work against Communist Russia and its satellites.

Today the president will confer with Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson on the strategy of coping with the dispute of labor leaders over administration defense mobilization policy. Wilson will fly to Key West from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and will confer with the president.

Some secrecy was being placed over Wilson's visit by the White House, which for the past three days has declined to confirm the known fact that Wilson would arrive Tuesday for a conference. It was finally announced.

WOOL DOWN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The dismal outlook for wool production in the United States is that the 1951 clip will be about two million pounds smaller than the 111 million pounds of cleaned wool produced last year.

BRITISH BASEBALL

LONDON—(INS)—More than 500 baseball clubs are now in operation and preparing for a boom season in Britain where cricket is the national game. League and cup competitions are to be held during the summer and are expected to attract thousands of spectators. The leading team in Britain is the Hornsby Red Sox. They defeated several visiting American Navy teams last season.

STRIKE IS ENDED

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 6—(INS)—About 140 men ended their strike in the electric foundry of the United States Steel Company and returned to work in Johnstown yesterday.

Another meeting with company officials will attempt to settle the dispute about work assignments which caused the walkout.

Claim Red Chinese Troops Are Doping With Opium

By COSTAS TRIANDAFILLIDIS
(L. N. S. Special Correspondent)

LOKYO, March 6—Drug-sodden Chinese communists soldiers are using opium to bolster them for suicidal bazaar attack against United Nations troops in Korea. Tough soldiers of the Greek battalion disclosed today they encountered doped Chinese troops during the battle of Kyongnan. The soldiers said the Chinese ambled into allied positions "grinning foolishly and apparently in a dream world".

A rugged Greek lieutenant, Spyros Kapralos, said:

Found Opium Bars

"It was like a bad dream and it distributed some of my soldiers until we found opium bars on some bodies and encountered others smoking opium in the midst of battle."

The Chinese looked on death as a joke but the opium slowed their reactions and they killed hundreds. They wandered into our positions grinning foolishly and some of them walked right into our bayonets with glazed eyes and frightening silly grins on their faces."

The lieutenant referred to the battle for Kyongnan which lasted from February 7 to 10. Kyongnan is 17 miles southeast of Seoul.

On February 10 the Greek battalion attached to the U. S. first cavalry division beat back three separate Chinese attacks and launched a counter-attack. Then a strange thing occurred. Kapralos said:

Didn't Appear To Care

"The battle was at its peak and we were at close quarters. My men kept cutting them down and they didn't appear to care. They weren't running and some came toward us while others just wandered away aimlessly."

"Suddenly I spotted a Chinese soldier five yards in front of me. Only half of his body was visible above a foxhole in which he was sitting. He looked at me and smiled foolishly."

"I pointed my gun at him and motioned him to get out. He disregarded me and smiled foolishly. I pointed my gun at him and motioned him to get out. He disregarded and continued to smoke a pipe which later proved to be opium. Nonchalantly reached for a grenade and drew back his arm. I shot him and he was still grinning stupidly as he slumped."

Second Lt. Savas Prokos, another platoon leader, said:

"The Chinese were fighting very strongly until we overran their foxholes. The strangest thing happened. Two of them stood up and saluted me drunkenly. The others backed away but would not give up their guns. We shot them down. They never stopped smiling."

Had Opium On Them

Prokos said the Chinese who didn't reach for their burp guns were taken prisoner. They all had opium on them.

Sgt. Ilias Troumpetaris of Sparta told how he and his squad sneaked around the rear of a troublesome enemy machine gun post. He said:

"We slipped up on five of them from behind. I shot the gunner through the back of the head and called on the others to surrender. They just grinned and swayed back and forth."

"One of them reached over and lobbed a grenade at me. I hit the ground, and my men fired into the group, killing or wounding them. The wounded still acted as if it were all a joke and it was apparent they had felt no pain."

Cpl. Eleftherius Tsinkantakis of Crete said:

"My squad came on a group of them and they offered no resistance. They just smiled. I felled ten of them with my rifle butt."

"Some fired their burp guns into the air. Almost all of them were smoking pipes, or had apparently been sharing a pipe for every two or three men."

There have been other reports that the Red soldiers used opium, but only isolated cases were observed. In the Kyongnan engagement elements of two Chinese regiments faced the Greeks, and prisoners from each unit carried the opium.

Cpl. Pangiotis Exarchos of Athens and Privates Evangelos Vardakis and George Tsetsis of Crete told this story:

"We were sent to take the strongest Chinese position in our area. We called for an air attack and American planes came down with napalm."

"Many Chinese were cremated, but the quilted uniforms of others on the fringe of the blasts caught fire and they became human torches."

"Still they walked, stupidly, dazedly into the open, making no effort to put out the fire."

More than half of the world's mass is made up of neurons, yet they are the most difficult of all nuclear particles to detect, say scientists.

Say Followers Of Stalin Are Losing Ground

WASHINGTON, March 6—(INS)—The Marshall Plan was given the lion's share of the credit in a State Department official's estimate that Communism has lost as much as a third of its strength in western Europe.

Homer M. Byington, Jr., director of the department's office of European affairs, said:

"The followers of Stalin are losing ground despite the glitter of their false promises, strong-arm tactics, threats and pressures of all kinds."

In Italy, Byington said, "the Communists admit a loss of 200,000. A reliable estimate places their loss at over a half a million. Defections from the Italian Communist party are now in the headlines."

The U. S. official made his statement on an NBC telecast.

Of the western European nations, Byington gave the following estimates of losses in Communist party membership:

Belgium, 100,000 members in 1946, 35,000 today; Denmark, 37 per cent of 1946; France, down 30 per cent; western Germany, down 34 per cent; Austria, down 34 per cent; Luxembourg, down 84 per cent; Netherlands, 50,000 in 1946, 33,000 now; Norway, down

65 per cent; Sweden, down 45 per cent; and Britain, 60,000 in 1946, 40,000 today.

Byington attributed most of the losses to the success of the Marshall Plan in aiding European economic recovery and predicted that similar democratic gains will be made in the next five years.

Auto Driver Held After Accident

Emmett McCormick of Portersville, R. D. 2, was arrested by policemen Birt and Rozzi at 6 a. m. today on a charge of driving a motor car while intoxicated after a car he drove struck a tractor-trailer at Atlantic avenue and West Washington street. The tractor-trailer was operated by Lawrence G. Thompson, R. D. 9.

The tractor-trailer was damaged and McCormick's car was badly damaged. He sustained a slight cut above an eye.

McCormick was driving east on West Washington street and the tractor-trailer, going west, was being turned from West Washington street into Atlantic avenue.

For every ton of steel poured by Russia and her satellites in the first half of 1950, it is estimated that three tons were poured in the United States.

CHILD STRUCK BY AUTO

While running across Grant street near Beaver street, David Tate, age 6, of 102 West Lincoln avenue was struck by a car operated by Michael Pundzak, Broad street, Newton Falls, O., who was driving west. A doctor treated the lad for bruises of the right thigh, knee, forehead and cheek. The accident occurred at 3:40 p. m. Monday.

DOG SKINS

LONDON—(INS)—Dog skins are being used in England for gloves and shoe-linings because of the shortage of leather. Leather dressers said the skin compares favorably with goat skin. Recently "pickled" or "half-processed" dog hides were exported to America.

Aged Man Suffers Gas Stove Burns

Peter McGlusky, age 76, of 122 Center way, was removed by police to the New Castle hospital yesterday where he received attention for burns about the hips. His clothing caught fire from a gas stove, according to police.

REPORTS CAR DAMAGED

Victor L. Lewis, R. D. 2, made a belated report to police to the effect his auto had been damaged, owing to a hole in the PRR crossing, Croton avenue, March 4.

House Committee For R.F.C. Changes

WASHINGTON, March 6—(INS)—The House Expenditures committee Monday approved President Truman's plan to reorganize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by abolishing its board of directors and placing it under on-man control.

The committee gave its approval by rejecting on a voice vote a resolution sponsored by Rep. Hoffman (R) Mich., which would have disapproved the president's proposal.

The sweeping reorganization of the RFC will become effective April 20 unless either the House or Senate specifically votes it down.

New Castle Indians Sign Al "Lefty" Milnar To 1951 Contract

Ex-Big League Star To Play And Manage

New Castle's Middle-Atlantic league Indians got away on the right foot last night, in their quest of the 1951 Class C loop championship by signing big Al "Lefty" Milnar, former Cleveland Indians star moundsman to a contract.

Milnar will play and manage the Indians this summer at Flaherty Memorial Field. The formal signing took but a few minutes and New Castle had gained considerable league prestige.

Spring Training April 16

Present at King Humbert hall as Milnar affixed his signature was President Al Scarazzo, and members of the board of directors, including the new business manager Jack Lewis. Milnar and Lewis are both Cleveland residents.

Milnar announced that tentatively spring training will get under way here Monday, April 16. In the meantime Big Al is going to make a trip to Daytona Beach, the minor league tryout camp of the Indians for conditioning, and to pick up a few players for the local club.

Milnar Determined

Possessing a pleasing personality, Big Al endeared himself to the hearts of the stockholders and club officials last night and said with determination "I am anxious to get started on my managerial duties with the New Castle Indians."

Milnar is really returning home to the Middle-Atlantic League having broken into organized baseball quite a few years ago with Zanesville, O., and was a star hurler right off the bat, later reporting to Minneapolis in 1936.

With Indians Five Years

Milnar joined the Cleveland Indians in 1938 and was with them until the end of the 1943 season, being called to the Army in 1944 upon his honorable discharge from the Army in 1946 was picked up by the St. Louis Browns. In 1947 Milnar was sent to Toledo and finished his career there. Since leaving Toledo Milnar has been selling autos in Cleveland and managing and playing semi-pro ball.

Milnar's best year with the Indians was in 1940 when he fireballed his left-handed slants for 19 wins and 10 defeats.

Lewis Starts To Work

Young Jack Lewis, newly appointed business manager began his arduous duties here today. He will contact the business houses and carry on all business connected with the local team.

Lewis has several fine promotional plans in mind that will add to the Indians' popularity. Lewis will travel with the team and handle all details on road trips as well as at home. He possesses all the attributes of his illustrious father, Glen "Gyp" Lewis, veteran Indians scout and will make many friends here.

John C. Scott, local well known auto dealer was made a board of director member last night, replacing Bob Houk who tendered his resignation. Dr. Thomas R. Uber, Dr. Ralph S. Campbell and Maurice Markley have been proposed to directorships in the ball club.

AL MILNAR AFFIXES SIGNATURE—New Castle's Middle-Atlantic league Indians signed Al "Lefty" Milnar, ex-Cleveland Indians star hurler to a 1951 managerial contract last night at King Humbert hall, as Al Scarazzo, president of New Castle Citizens Baseball Inc., (center) beams his approval, and the newly appointed Business Manager Jack Lewis (left) looks on admiringly. Milnar will take over here around April 16 when spring training will get under way. Stockholders of the local club also witnessed the signing, as did the club directors.

Wampum Meets Avalon Tonight At Dormont In Quarter-Finals Of WPIAL Tournament

Wampum high school's Lawrence County Class B basketball champions meet Avalon high tonight at 8 o'clock at Dormont in a quarter-final game of the WPIAL Class B cage tournament.

The Indians moved into the quarter-finals by way of a 41-37 victory over East Washington one week ago tonight. It is the second consecutive year they have met the Golden Panthers in the quarter-final round of the tournament.

Both teams have compiled impressive records for the season. Neither team has been defeated by a Class B five, while both have suffered defeats at the hands of Class A teams.

Avalon boasts a slightly better record and will go into the game as favorites. The Panthers used a pressing man-to-man defense last year in downing Wampum and have had much success with the same defense throughout the present campaign.

Wampum coach, L. Butler Henson, reports that his squad is in fairly good shape outside of a few colds. An 11th player, Ralph Melfi, will probably make the trip tonight, Henson reports.

HOCKEY STAR IN TROUBLE

MONTREAL, March 6.—(INS)—Fieri Maurice Richard apparently has put his fist in it again.

The high-scoring star of the Montreal Canadiens is awaiting word from National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell today on a reported run-in he had with referee Hugh McLean in a New York hotel Sunday.

Charles Lays Title On Line Wednesday In Walcott Bout

DETROIT, March 6.—(INS)—

Spectators who watched heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles workout for his title match Wednesday night with Jersey Joe Walcott say the champ looks somewhat less than impressive.

Charles' co-managers Jake Mintz and Tom Tannes, however, don't seem to be the least bit worried. When the subject was brought to their attention they snapped: "Don't worry about Charles. He'll take care of himself. If you want to worry—worry about the guy Charles beat in Chicago to win the title. In the gym Ez does just enough work to get in shape."

Both Charles and Walcott ended their training yesterday. Each finished in good condition without any cuts or bruises that might prove a handicap.

The pair is scheduled to weigh in at noon tomorrow at the Olympia Stadium. This will be a mere formality, however, since heavyweights are not required to make weight.

Officials at Olympia expect a record-breaking sellout for the bout Wednesday.

Monessen High Battles Rankin

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—(INS)—The Greyhounds of Monessen High School are slight favorites to beat the Jackrabbits of Rankin tonight and go on to meet Duquesne next Friday in the WPIAL Class A Eliminations at Pitt Stadium.

Duquesne edged Washington, 42-38, last night at the stadium pavilion in a hard-fought quarter-final ball game.

Tonight's high school contest should be a thriller. Monessen beat Rankin earlier in the season at Monessen.

Victor of the eliminations will represent District Seven in the State Championship Eliminations.

Elliott Steelers Win From Laris

Elliott Steelers took three games from Laris of Ambridge at that place last week. Virginia Forrest was high with 214 for one game and high with 496 for three games. Friday night Elliotts bowl the Ellwood City Ranch at Castle alleys.

Universals Beaten By Akron Shulans

Akron Shulans dumped the Universals at Cortland last Saturday night in an elimination game, 66-56.

The game was close the entire way with the Akron team pulling ahead in the closing minutes. The Potters now drop to the loser's bracket and one more loss will mean elimination.

Tonight at 7:30 the Potters will tangle in another tournament game at Cortland and all players are asked to meet at the Y at 5:30.

Hanks Enter Semi-Finals At Cortland

Defeat Warren Monday, 71 To 57

Hank A. C. basketball team racked up its 17th win of the season and advanced to the semi-final round of the Cortland Lions tournament by thumping the Warren Garters 71-57 in the quarter-final round of the tourney.

Getting off to an early lead, the Hanks took command of the game from the start and were never in serious trouble. At the end of the first period they led 18-12 and picked up three more points at the half to lead by nine points at 34-25.

In the third period the locals hit the hoops for 22 markers while the Warrenites accounted for 11 and the Hanks built up a 20 point lead of 56-36.

Buck Kerr led the Hanks in scoring with a total of 16 points.

Meet Sharon Wednesday

In gaining their quarter-final triumph, the Hanks now move into the semi-final round of the tourney and will meet the Sharon Seniors on Wednesday evening at 9:30 p. m. The Sharon squad is made up of this year's Sharon high team and several ex-Sharon high stars.

Win or lose on Wednesday, the Hanks will return to Cortland on Saturday to take part in the championship or consolation games and the awarding of the trophies, and awards.

In three tournament games to date, the Hanks have scored a total of 216 points to 123 for their opponents and are thus far, the highest scoring team in the tournament.

Chickeneo Accepts Sharon Football Job

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—(INS)—

Johnny Chickeneo, freshman football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, today looked forward to taking over the head coaching job at Sharon, Pa., high school.

He was named last night to succeed Cyril James, who resigned after three years.

Percy Bassett Wins Decision

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—

(INS)—Percy Bassett eyed the lightweight crown of Ike Williams today after winning a unanimous 10 round decision over New Yorker Johnny Carter at the Philadelphia arena.

For Bassett it was also sweet revenge on the only man to defeat him. Carter stopped Percy's 21-bout winning streak on Feb. 7 at New York's St. Nicholas arena.

Williams Next
Carter began strong, clipping Bassett with a right to the chin that almost put the Philadelphian on the skids. Bassett rallied to pile up points up to the final frame when Carter sent him reeling to the corner via a right to the jaw.

Promoter Herman Taylor previously announced the winner definitely will get a crack at William's crown. He said this promise had been given by Ike's manager, Frank (Blinky) Palermo.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 6.—(INS)—World lightweight champion Ike Williams last night won a split decision over Bear Jack, former titleholder, in an over-weight 10-round match at the Rhode Island auditorium.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

THEY NEVER GET OLD. And some of our athletes prove it. In proving it some even improve with age.

The thought comes to mind with a notation dropped on the desk from the "Professional Athlete of the Year" award committee.

The winner for the month of January, selected in a nation-wide poll, was Mildred Didrickson Zaharias, greatest of all women golfers. Good old Babe, the clown princess of pro sports. Why, this gal has been active on the sporting scene for 20 years! As far back as 1932 she was an Olympic champion.

Improve with age? She sure does.

Another amazing athlete is Stella Walsh, who still competes in track and basketball. She's been setting records for 20 years.

The all-time great, of course, is Willie Hoppe, the boy wonder of billiards who reigns as champion today—a title he has held off and on for many, many years.

MOST EVERY SPORT has its oldtimer who lives in the past and competes in the present.

Some of our wrestlers, for example, compete for 40 or more years. Jim Londos, the "Gorgeous Greek," is still wrestling and he was a star in the Golden Age of Sports.

Vinnie Richards, a tennis star in the days of the one and only Bill Tilden, still competes in pro tournaments and plays a good game of tennis.

Bowling, and bike racing have their iron men who compete year after year, sometimes retire for a while and then come back again to prove they're still among the best.

In golf the greats of yesterday still participate, although not as regularly as they did in the past.

Chick Evans, Gene Sarazen and Billy Burke are just a few names linked to golf fame of yesterday who still can be seen in the tourneys.

There's Patty Berg, still a top competitor, and she's been at it since she was a school girl wonder.

In baseball many of the oldtimers have called it quits, but the great game still has Phil Cavarretta, now in his 18th season in the majors, Satchel Paige and several other oldies.

Boxers have a habit of hanging around for a long time, retiring and making comebacks. Two of the old guys still active are Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott.

IN HORSE RACING, many of the smaller tracks give the old campaigners a chance. We've seen 13 and 14-year-old horses still running and, in horse racing, that's O.K.

Jockeys, too, despite the threat of weight difficulties, maintain their activity. Johnny Longden, for example, has been riding for over 20 years.

Pro football has its ancients, the biggest name still in the picture being Sammy Baugh, who was a star passer for Texas Christian 16 years ago.

Harness horse drivers go on and on. In fact, most of the drivers are men in their 60s and 70s.

In basketball we have the vets, too, with the Harlem Globetrotters featuring stars of both today and yesterday.

Hockey, despite the roughness of the sport, is filled with veterans. And there's Sonja Henie, who was a world's figure skating champion in 1927. She's still at it with her ice show.

According to an Ohio U. professor, who conducted research for years, the best age of athletes is 27 to 29.

The oldsters don't think so, however.

CINCINNATI, O., March 6.—(INS)—Cincinnati fight fans expect no happy medium in Eddie Burgh's scheduled ten-round performance tonight against European featherweight champion Ray Fenech.

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today signed pitcher Albert Gibb, 20-year-old Canadian, and assigned him to Hutchinson, Kan., of the class C Western Association.

Argentiniens Lead Games

U.S. Is Second, Mexico Third

By DAVID WILSON
(U.S. Sports Writer)

BUENOS AIRES, March 6.—The best the United States can do today is whittle away at the point total while Argentina works its way to the mythical team championship at the first Pan-American games.

The Argentinians, with a talent-stacked team of more than 500 athletes sprinkled throughout every major and minor event, head the 19 competing nations with 623 points. Uncle Sam's contingent of less than 200 has maintained a strong second position with 473 points while Mexico holds down third place with 185 points.

Browning Ross Wins
American athletes gained gold medals in two track events at River Plate stadium yesterday before a small turnout of 10,000 spectators. In addition, the U.S. gained honors in swimming, weightlifting, fencing, basketball, and gymnastics. But the Wake Forest college baseball team was eliminated from title consideration when it lost to Cuba, 8-1.

Most notable track triumph of the day was Browning Ross' stretch-sprint triumph in the 1,500 meter run. The former Villanova college distance ace just beat out Chile's Salas Aravena in 4:04.4. John Twomey was third and Curt Stone, who was trying to make the 1,500 a "triple" for him, was fourth.

Believe Ex-Convict Is Basketball 'Fixer'

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—(INS)—Investigators hunted today for clues to possible higher-ups in the alleged attempt of Albert Scroggins, 31-year-old ex-convict, to "fix" last Saturday night's UCLA-University of Southern California basketball game.

Deputy district attorney Adolph Alexander said: "We're pretty sure that Scroggins is tied up with the big-time California gamblers."

He added that the California gamblers, in turn, were linked with eastern and midwestern betting syndicates.

Branch Rickey Lectures Bucs

Ralph Kiner Has Two Teeth Pulled

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 6.—(INS)—Branch Rickey called his Pittsburgh Pirates into a closed session today to begin his lectures titled "Why Last Place?" The Mahatma, who is general manager of the club, intends to point out to the players that they are better than their last place standing during 1950.

Some of the talk at the California training camp today wasn't very complimentary to homer king Ralph Kiner who missed yesterday's practice session.

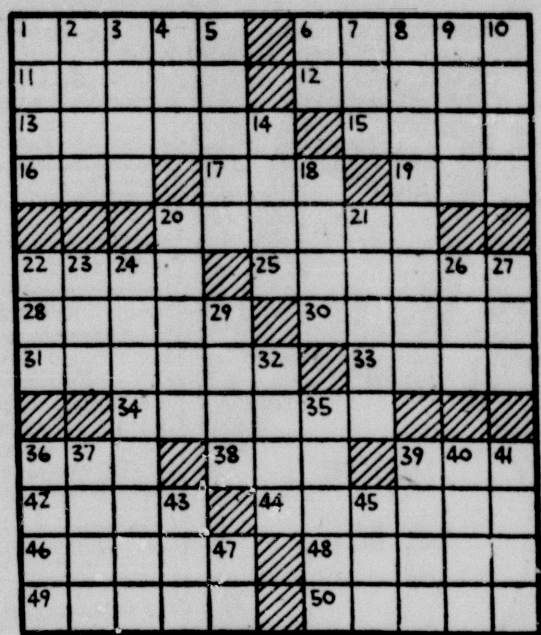

Ralph had two teeth pulled and his teammates wondered why he didn't tend to that before the spring workouts started.

Clairton Elects Brown As Coach

CLAIRTON, Pa., March 6.—(INS)—The Clairton school board last night elected Neil C. Brown to head football coach to succeed John Kars who had resigned. Brown, a graduate of Grove City college, recently had quit at Har-Brack Union high school. He won 58 and lost 14 with his Har-Brack eleven in the tough WPIAL class AA.

Before that Brown coached at Bridgeville high school in the class B division from 1933 through 1942.

Big George Mikan Seeks New Records

NEW YORK, March 6.—(INS)—George Mikan is still after those record books. The towering Minneapolis Laker center leads the National Basketball Association with 1,696 points. That may not be news, but George is now only 169 points short of his all-time high of 1,865 set last season.

Mikan has seven more games to play and needs a 24.3 average to break the record.

Steelers Schedule Yankees August 22

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Steelers will open their 1951 exhibition football schedule with a night game against the New York Yankees at Forbes field Aug. 22.

The game will be sponsored by the Dapper Dan club, with proceeds going to the Palestra Foundation.

Freshmen athletes will be allowed to compete on varsity teams in the Pacific Coast Conference beginning this September and during the academic year of 1951-52.

BLONDIE

IS YOUR MOTHER AT HOME, LITTLE GIRL?
YES, SIR, I'LL CALL HER

A MAN WANTS TO SEE YOU, MAMA

SEE WHAT HE WANTS, WILL YOU PLEASE, DAGWOOD?

I'M SELLING RAZOR BLADES, MADAM—WOULD YOU LIKE TO GET SOME FOR YOUR HUSBAND?

BLONDIE DO YOU NEED ANY RAZOR BLADES?

MICKEY FINN

YOU THINK PHIL HAS BEEN EATING ON THE SLY, EH?

YES! MA SAID THREE SLICES OF HAM DISAPPEARED YESTERDAY—AND HALF A BOTTLE OF MILK!

OH, HELLO, MR. CLANCY!

MICKEY—WE'VE JUST THOUGHT OF SOMETHING THAT MIGHT GET PHIL OUT OF THAT BED—AND WE'D LIKE TO HAVE YOUR OPINION!

SERGEANT HALLIGAN THINKS IT MIGHT WORK, TOO!

OKAY! WE'LL ANNOUNCE IT AT THE LODGE TONIGHT!

THEN SHERIFF FINN DESERVES ALL THE CREDIT FOR BRINGING THE CONVENTION HERE?

OH YES—DEFINITELY! IT HAS BEEN HIS PET AMBITION—EVER SINCE HE WAS MADE NATIONAL COMMANDER!

JOE PALOOKA

I SAID, LET ME IN THERE! YOU KNOW WHO I AM? I'M LT. LEVIN'S MANAGER!

I'M SORRY, SIR, I HAVE ORDERS TO LET NO ONE IN.

HULLO... WHERE'S COLONEL MARTIN... THIS IS MIKE O'LEERY!

HE'S NOT IN, MR. O'LEERY. HE WON'T BE IN ALL AFTERNOON.

WELL, LISEN... YOU SEND SOMEONE DOWN TO THE GYM AND TELL 'EM TO LET ME IN. PROBABLY WILL BE!

SORRY, MR. O'LEERY, I CAN'T COUNTER-MAND THE ORDER. YOU'LL HAVE TO WAIT TO SEE COL. MARTIN.

JACKSON TWINS

SO THIS IS HOW THE FAMOUS CURTAIN DRESS WILL LOOK! IT'S REAL PRETTY, JUL!

WHAT ARE YOU PLANNING TO MAKE, JAN?

NO PLANS YET! STILL WAITING FOR THE CREATIVE SPARK TO HIT ME!

IT'S GOTTA BE TRES CHIC FOR HENRI! CHIC AND YET LOOK LIKE IT WAS JUST THROWN TOGETHER!

WHICH IT PROBABLY WILL BE!

BONANZA! HENRI, I'VE GOT IT!

BRICK BRADFORD

HI, SNAP! TWO COUSINS TO SEE AUNT KITTY!

SUPPLY PRIVATE

WAIT A MINUTE!

O.K.! MAKE IT SNAPPY!

HMM! PASSWORD STUFF, EH? TO A LITTLE GAME!

HI, LILLY! SEAT OPEN!

NANCY

I THOUGHT OF SOME WORDS THAT SPELL THE SAME THING BACKWARD AND FORWARD

TOOT---DAD---OTTO---BOB---NOON---MOM---DEED---PUP---

CAN YOU THINK OF ANY?

WOW

DICK TRACY

I'M HIT!

OH, NO, YOU'RE NOT! MY SHOTS WENT IN FRONT OF YOU!

BUT YOU GOT PEPPERED WITH PIECES OF PLASTER.

SEARCH 'EM, SAM! THIS OUGHT TO BE VERY INTERESTING!

M.T. WILLIAMS. H'M! SO THAT'S WHERE HE GETS THAT NAME 'EMPTV'? DR. MOTA? CAN YOU FIND, SAM?

THE GUMPS

THE DOOR SHOOK! ONE MORE SHOVE WITH THIS PIECE OF PIPE...

WUAM!

OH, H-H... I CAN BREATHE AGAIN!... OH, GOLLY! I ALMOST FORGOT! DR. MOTA? H-H-E'S IN THAT SEATED ROOM!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE

BEAUMONT? BEAUMONT! COME HERE THIS INSTANT!

EH? YES, DEAR—WHAT IS IT?

THERE! DID YOU EVER? THAT—THAT RAFFISH WILD GAMBLING COUSIN OF YOURS! LOOK AT HIM!

WELL, I DECLARE—ISN'T THAT OUR PAVLOVA WITH HIM?

OUR PAVLOVA—BAH! OUR HIRSD GEL—OUR K.M.—IT'S A PUBLIC DISGRACE—DO YOU HEAR?

OH, CALM YOURSELF, BEATROCK—AFTER ALL—

Senate Vote Favors Draft Of 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON, March 6—(INS)—The Senate in its first test on the pending military manpower bill voted Monday for the drafting of 18-year-olds.

The vote was 55 to 31.

The test came on an amendment by Sen. Morse (R) Ore., to prevent the drafting of anyone younger than 18 years and six months.

Rejection of the amendment retained the provision which provides for drafting of 18-year youth under this two-point priority system:

1. The oldest in the 18-year bracket would be the first called.
 2. No 18-year-youths would be inducted until local boards exhaust the present draft pool of men 19 through 25.
- Defeat of the Morse amendment was in line with predictions of sponsors of the draft-universal military training bill that they can get it through the Senate without substantial changes.
- The Defense department said the 18-year-draft is necessary. It said its passage will pave the way for return to civilian life of reservists with World War II service that have been called to duty since the Korean War.

Seek To Combat Poisonous Weed Growth In U.S.

WASHINGTON, March 6—(INS)—Sen. Malone (R) Nev., introduced a bill in the Senate Monday designed to combat the growth and spread of weeds such as halogeton which are poisonous to livestock.

The bill would authorize the secretary of agriculture to survey the poisonous weed situation and take measures necessary to eradicate the plants. It would authorize appropriations necessary for the work.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, March 6.—Linda Darnell comes up with the report today, after 11 years of research in 29 pictures, that most actors are gentlemen when it comes to love in the movies.

"And I've got news for you," she explained. "Some are actually shy. They will go into the big clinch with reservations. They let the girl take the lead. Sometimes I have to say, 'oh, come, don't you think we're underplaying this a little?' We're both in the business together and know it's all pretense."

"I've had them ask me before a scene if it would be all right for them to hold me a certain way and how should they kiss me. If they know you well, they're often embarrassed more than if you are a stranger to them."

Give Their All

Other actors give the scenes their all, though, in a nice, rugged way. The last rugged type Linda played opposite was Paul Douglas in 20th Century Fox's "The Guy Who Sank the Navy."

"He doesn't know his strength," she said. "When he grabs me, he grabs. And it just so happens that I bruise easily. After a love scene with him I'm black and blue. I look like I've fought 10 rounds."

"When I started the picture, the director asked me to be careful how I put my arms around Douglas because Paul had broken two ribs. That was a laugh. With two ribs broken, he still was a crusher."

"Richard Widmark is another who forgets everything except the scene. He's the fellow the script says he is. In 'No Way Out' he had to slap me around and, oh brother, he didn't pull the punches any."

No Advantages

Linda at one time or another has been in the arms of almost every leading man in Hollywood. She claims she has yet to find one who took advantage of a love scene to pitch a little woo on his own.

"But I've found one or two clowns," she said. "They are the type that makes faces at you before you go into a tender romantic scene or tells some joke. I don't like that. I like to play my love scenes with sentiment."

Highland W.C.T.U.

Highland W.C.T.U. met in the Y.W.C.A. March 1, with Mrs. Thomas Lindsey presiding.

The devotional period, in charge of Mrs. Abram Shaffer, had as its subject "Light of the World."

Each member took part in a special prayer service.

Mrs. F. Dickson Marshall was the speaker of the afternoon. Her talk consisted of a summary of the services rendered by the City Mission. Mrs. Marshall also favored with sacred music on the xylophone.

Members were urged by Mrs. D. W. Nesbit to contact their representatives in Washington, regarding the sale of beer and liquor to men in the armed forces.

Following the reports of officers, the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Marshall.

The April meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Jesse McCommon of 135 East Park avenue, with Mrs. John Grest as co-hostess. The leader will be Mrs. T. J. McFate.

The answer to that, according to Met mezzo-soprano Martha Lipton, is when it's done south of the border. Back in New York from opera and concert appearances in South America, she revealed that down there a whistle is a jeer, not a cheer. When they like you there, they stamp their feet and shout "Brava! Brava!"
